Re: Adjudication Claim 29-10506

Dear Water User:

In 1990 you filed an adjudication claim for a water right on Knox Creek in Power county. A copy is attached for your convenience. My job now is to review this claim and others in the area, and make recommendations to the Snake River Basin Adjudication Court.

Your claim was based on a 1981 court decree issued by Justice Arthur P. Oliver. The decree adopted a stipulated agreement that had been reached between the parties. It is valuable evidence that helps define your water right in relationship to the water rights of the other parties.

The decree, however, was not a "general" decree. It did not include all the water users on Knox Creek, nor all the users on Bannock Creek to which Knox Creek is tributary. Because of this, it cannot define the relationship of your water right to the water rights of these other users.

To make an accurate recommendation on your water right, I need additional documentation to describe the priority date and the extent of the original beneficial use. The enclosed pamphlet describes some sources that may be used to document your right. If an affidavit is used, it needs to clearly state that the person making the affidavit personally saw the beneficial use, and the earliest date they saw it. The more details the person can give, the better. Helpful details include anything the person remembers about the amount of water used, the number of acres, the general location, and circumstances that verify the date and details. As I review the documentation, my standard will be:

The documentation should tend to indicate that diversion works were in place and had adequate capacity to deliver the claimed amount of water. It should also tend to indicate that the claimed quantity of water was actually applied to the claimed place of use for the claimed beneficial use.

5/11/2001

Please review this information and provide me with additional documentation. Later this summer I will contact you to do a field inspection of your system and place of use. Please call me if you have questions or concerns.

Sincerely,
