Re: Water Right Claim A25-10105

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding:

Thank you for calling and giving me your address and answering my questions about your well and water use. Enclosed is a copy of a "Notice of Change of Ownership" for the water right for your home and commercial business in Rigby. Please fill it out and send it to Idaho Department of Water Resources with documentation of ownership. The address is at the bottom of the second page.

Based on what you told me, and what I saw on my visit in January, I will prepare a report for IDWR. One of their Senior Water Right Agents will make a recommendation for your water right and send you a copy for review. Then the recommendation will be sent on to the court, and eventually your water right will be decreed. Please call IDWR or me if you have questions.

Sincerely,

Bryce A. Contor

LITHOLOGY AND PETROGRAPHY OF SAMPLED INTERVALS

Core from the five wells was examined at the INEEL USGS Core Library. All of the basalts examined are fine- to medium-grained, aphyric to porphyritic, olivine bearing, and have a diktytaxitic texture. They are similar to those described in detail by Knutson et al. (1990) and Lanphere et al. (1993; 1994).

Well 2-2A

All of the core from well 2-2A that we examined consisted of basalts with sediment interbeds. Most of the basalts from above 1,337 feet are medium gray in color and exhibit a fresh appearance on fracture surfaces. Calcite and/or clay to fine-grained sediments coat or fill several fractures and vesicles. In the intervals between 603 and 617 feet and 1,191 and 1,205 feet the basalts are gray to gray-green in color with green-colored clay coating or filling fractures. The green-colored clay is not present in the sedimentary interbeds, so it most likely is authigenic in origin. Large (~ 0.2 inches), drusy calcite crystals were present in a large vug at 1,275 feet. There was only minor calcite deposition in vugs above and below these large crystals. Basalts below 1,337 feet exhibit increased filling of vesicles and diktytaxitic cavities with authigenic minerals. The matrix of basalts between 1,583 and 1,625 feet has a dull green hue due to the partial filling of diktytaxitic cavities with green-colored clays. Authigenic chabazite, a zeolite, occurs in several vugs between 1,569 and 1,601 feet. A vug at 1,591 feet contains large
