RE: Civil Case Number 39576, Sub case 35-02009, priority date March 2, 1908

Dear Master Dolan,

Please find attached the following documents:

1. Standard Form 4 – Motion to File Amended Notice of Claim
2. Copy of amended Notice of Claim to a Water Right, dated 12/20/2002
3. Copy of State of Idaho original water license number 3479 (now 35-02009)
4. Copy of State of Idaho (IDWR file copy) Water License No 3479
5. Copy of original Notice of Claim to a Water Right, dated 5/18/1989

We are filing this 'Motion to File an Amended Notice of Claim' for the following reasons. When the original license was applied for and subsequently issued, the license listed the proposed uses as "irrigation and domestic". However, the original Notice of Claim to Water Right (1989), reflected only the irrigation portion of the use. We wish to have the amended claim and license reflect the original permitted use of irrigation and 'domestic' as that has been an on-going and necessary use of the license since it was granted. We are not filing for a 'new' use, but rather to correct the omission of the original permitted use. Further, we wish to correctly define the on-going use as stock water versus domestic (see explanation below) – a distinction made by IDWR subsequent to issuance of the original license.

Pursuant to preparing the forms for transfer of the rights off the BOR acreage at the edge of the American Falls reservoir, it came to my attention that the irrigation usage was the only one listed, and the domestic use was not included. I believe this to be an inadvertent omission. I do not know if it was a clerical input error when the preprinted claims forms were prepared in 1989, or if the entry error was made prior to that time. I inquired of my father, Carl Christensen, if the 'domestic' use had ever been intentionally omitted or eliminated from this water license. He indicated that the usage was never changed and he was unaware that the permitted use as reflected in the original filing of the claim was any different than the original license.

He has owned and farmed the affected lands since early 1953 and to my personal knowledge; the water has always been used for both irrigation and domestic/stock water for the nearly 50 year intervening time period. We believe the previous owners also used it in the same manner.

Per my discussions with the IDWR, my understanding is that prior to the late 1950s and early 1960s, all stock water use was included in the permitted domestic uses; and that the separation or designation of literal domestic use (house and yard) from stock water use was made in the mid-1960s. We are uncertain whether an amendment of pre-1950/1960 licenses was required on the permitted use when the IDWR changed the way of defining use, but although this license does not state 'stock water', this is the use to which this water has always been placed. There are approximately 560 head total at any one time.

If we need to schedule a separate hearing to address the amended claim, please inform me. We will be happy to provide any other needed documentation.

It is my understanding that this amended claim for the 'domestic' use must be resolved before we can file the paperwork for the transfer from the BOR acreages. If this is inaccurate, please inform me and I will proceed with the filing of the transfers.

Sincerely,
