The Idaho Department of Water Resources (IDWR) submits this Case Management Report to Special Master Booth as provided by AO1(10)(d) which states that IDWR shall file a case management report with the court which divides the contested water rights into Class One and Class Two subcases. Pursuant to I.C. 42-1412(2), the original notices of claims for the subcases identified herein were submitted to the court on December 21, 2004.

OVERVIEW

This is the Case Management Report for Basin 86. IDWR presents this report to Special Master Booth to assist in setting these subcases for hearing. The boundaries of Basin 86 are illustrated on the attached map. IDWR submitted the Director's Report for Irrigation and Other Uses, Reporting Areas 22, IDWR Basin 86 to the court on September 21, 2004. The objection period for Basin 86 closed December 3, 2004, and the response deadline is February 4, 2005.

Basin 86 is an area of approximately 766 square miles located in northwestern Idaho. It includes portions of Clearwater, Latah and Nez Perce counties. The basin is bounded on the south by Basin 85, on the east by Basin 83, on the north by Basins 87 and 92 and to the west by Basin 87 and the state of Washington. Basin 86, together with Basin 83, comprises the northern boundary of the area included in the SRBA.

The attached table shows the water rights that were objected to. There are 10 objections filed to Basin 86 water right recommendations. Private claimants are involved in only 1 of the 10 objections. All other objections are federal or state objections to federal water right recommendations. In the table, the Idaho Department of Lands is abbreviated as "IDL." The Idaho Office of the Attorney General (OAG) represents the Idaho Department of Lands. All objections are categorized as Class I subcases.

Kenneth Knoblock, Senior Water Resource Agent with IDWR's Northern Region Office was the only investigator of Basin 86 water rights.
