1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the company is not meeting its sales targets. The second step is to analyze the data. The third step is to develop a plan. The fourth step is to implement the plan. The fifth step is to evaluate the results.

Figure 1. A schematic diagram illustrating the proposed model for the development of the brain. The diagram shows a sequence of events from birth to adulthood. At birth, the brain is represented by a simple outline. As time progresses, the brain becomes more complex, with various regions labeled. Key stages include: Birth, Infancy, Childhood, Adolescence, and Adulthood. The diagram highlights the role of the environment in shaping the brain's development, showing how external factors influence internal processes. The final stage, Adulthood, shows a highly developed brain with distinct functional areas.
