Murphy's Paul Nettlet

His great-grandfather saw Joyce Ranch through the Bannock Indian War fourth generation faces another challenge.

Paul Nettleton tells of the time he was working cattle on horseback in the mountains above Silver City. He had dismounted for lunch when he was unexpectedly joined by a backpacker who questioned the wisdom of using federal land for cattle grazing. The discussion focused on the price paid for federal grazing permits, a hot issue among environmentalists at the time, and Nettleton patiently explained the economics. The backpacker, whose sympathies were obviously with the Sierra Club, asked somewhat sarcastically why Nettleton didn't graze private land then. Nettleton replied that he had lived and worked this land all his life and he loved it. According to Nettleton, the reply somewhat shocked the backpacker, whom we might presume had thought love for the land could only be found at wine and cheese parties in Boise's "socially conscious" North End.

Paul Nettleton, you see, is the fourth generation to have operated Joyce Ranch near Murphy, which is the oldest ranch in the state of Idaho still owned by the same family. The ranch was founded by Matt Joyce in 1865, while soldiers with gray and blue uniforms were recovering from wounds suffered in the American Civil War. Paul Nettleton's emotional claim on the land is rooted pretty deeply. The Joyce Ranch tracks much of Idaho's history from territory to statehood and from one of the area's most colorful regions.

The Joyce Cattle Company currently consists of 9500 owned acres and 120,000 leased government acres between Murphy and Silver City. This land represents a spread of around 40 miles in length over which 1000 head of cattle are ranged year round. The cattle make this 40 mile round trip once a year, summer ranging in the mountains above Silver City and moving to the lower range near Murphy for the winter. It all began over 125 years ago when an Irish immigrant left a Mississippi barge business because it had been disrupted by the Civil War.

Matt Joyce headed for the mining of California but never got past Nevada because his wife, Mary, was about to have her third child. Quickly, however, Matt headed for the booming mining town of Silver City, arriving in a wagon pulled by an ox and a milk cow. According to Matt's great grandson, Paul Nettleton, one of Matt's oxen had died on rout and he didn't want to risk his fine horse to wagon chores, so had used the milk cow. Ultimately, that milk cow would prove Matt's "gold find" and the foundation of one of the state's largest and most successful ranches.

Matt took the surer profit by selling milk and produce to the gold seekers. He established the Joyce Milk Ranch above Silver City. Harsh winters drove him to seek milder climates in the lowlands and he discovered Sinker Creek, so named because at one point it "sinks" out of sight into the ground. It is one of the few streams with near year-round flow in the Owyhee desert. Five miles from the current town of Murphy, Matt homesteaded the 160 acres which became the nucleus for the Joyce Ranch. The "Old Place" as it is still known, is located half a mile up the creek canyon from Paul Nettleton's current residence. Little remains of the original house, except a hole in the ground and a few basalt stones once used in the foundation. The house was victim of a flood. Rock from the Sinker Creek Canyon was the most available building material in this treeless range land, as a stone fence and a mud-chinked horse barn from the period still attest.

The original homestead,

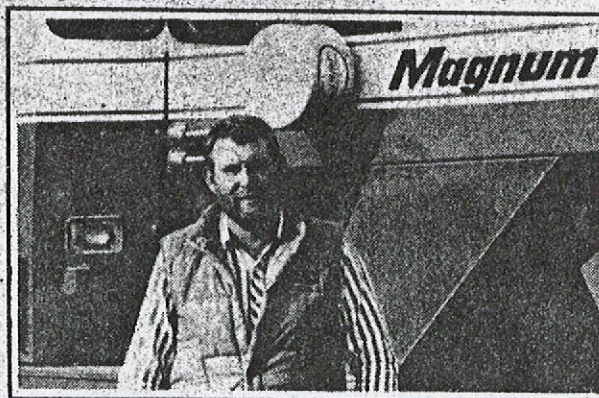

around which 28 other homesteads were later wrapped to make the present Joyce Ranch, was not dedicated to cattle. The rich flood plane of Sinker creek was used for farming and ancient irrigation ditches dug by hand are still in use. Produce and milk sold to Silver City miners remained the Joyce specialty until the mid eighties, when Con Shae trailed a herd of beef cattle from Texas to Idaho and Matt Joyce obtained some. In 1878 Matt Joyce became one of the original founders of the Owyhee Cattlemen's Association which, itself, was the first in the Idaho

Territory. The Joyce "M-J" brand is currently the oldest in the state.

The late seventies are known for another reason in Idaho history. It was the period of the Bannock Indian wars. The Nettleton home sits near a part of Sinker Creek bottomland which marks a "Joyce footnote" to that piece of history. The creek flood plane widens a bit at that location and is known as the "Indian Council Grounds." There, Bannock Shoshone would camp to take advantage of the oasis in a dry land which Sinker Creek afforded. Since the Indian camp site was less than a mile from their home befriended the sixties and even sent children to play with the squaws. In 1878, the rancher's home, alluded to that year, the rancher

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

THIS IS SUBMITTED WITH INTENT TO PROVE A PRIORITY DATE OF 1926 FOR THE DIVERSION OF .16 CFS FROM SAWPIT GULCH CREEK A TRIBUTARY OF JORDAN CREEK.

THE PROPERTY TO WHICH THIS CLAIM IS ATTACHED WAS PURCHASED FROM LILLIE LEONARD, WIDOW OF R.H. LEONARD IN 1970. THE LEONARDS MOVED TO THE PROPERTY AS NEWLYWEDS IN 1905. THEY HAD A SMALL PASTURE WHERE THEY KEPT A HORSE FOR THE KIDS AND A MILK COW. LILLIE TOLD ME THEY ENLARGED THE PASTURE AND THE DITCH THAT CARRIED THE WATER TO IRRIGATE IT IN THE MID-TWENTIES BUT COULDN'T REMEMBER EXACTLY WHAT YEAR. SHE SAID THE PASTURE WAS IRRIGATED BEFORE THEY MOVED THERE IN 1905 BUT IT WAS A MUCH SMALLER PASTURE AND DITCH SO THE AMOUNT OF WATER DIVERTED WAS LESS THAN AFTER 1926. 16CFS HAS BEEN DIVERTED SINCE THAT TIME.

Murphy's Paul Nettle

His great-grandfather saw Joyce Ranch through the Bannock Indian War fourth generation faces another challenge.

Paul Nettleton tells of the time he was working cattle on horseback in the mountains above Silver City. He had dismounted for lunch when he was unexpectedly joined by a backpacker who questioned the wisdom of using federal land for cattle grazing. The discussion focused on the price paid for federal grazing permits, a hot issue among environmentalists at the time, and Nettleton patiently explained the economics. The backpacker, whose sympathies were obviously with the Sierra Club, asked somewhat sarcastically why Nettleton didn't graze private land then. Nettleton replied that he had lived and worked this land all his life and he loved it. According to Nettleton, the reply somewhat shocked the backpacker, whom we might presume had thought love for the land could only be found at wine and cheese parties in Boise's "socially conscious" North End.

Paul Nettleton, you see, is the fourth generation to have operated Joyce Ranch near Murphy, which is the oldest ranch in the state of Idaho still owned by the same family. The ranch was founded by Matt Joyce in 1865, while soldiers with gray and blue uniforms were recovering from wounds suffered in the American Civil War. Paul Nettleton's emotional claim on the land is rooted pretty deeply. The Joyce Ranch tracks much of Idaho's history from territory to statehood and from one of the area's most colorful regions.

The Joyce Cattle Company currently consists of 9500 owned acres and 120,000 leased government acres between Murphy and Silver City. This land represents a spread of around 40 miles in length over which 1000 head of cattle are ranged year round. The cattle make this 40 mile round trip once a year, summer ranging in the mountains above Silver City and moving to the lower range near Murphy for the winter. It all began over 125 years ago when an Irish immigrant left a Mississippi barge business because it had been disrupted by the Civil War.

Matt Joyce headed for the mining of California but never got past Nevada because his wife, Mary, was about to have her third child. Quickly, however, Matt headed for the booming mining town of Silver City, arriving in a wagon pulled by an ox and a milk cow. According to Matt's great grandson, Paul Nettleton, one of Matt's oxen had died on rout and he didn't want to risk his fine horse to wagon chores, so had used the milk cow. Ultimately, that milk cow would prove Matt's "gold find" and the foundation of one of the state's largest and most successful ranches.

Matt took the surer profit by selling milk and produce to the gold seekers. He established the Joyce Milk Ranch above Silver City. Harsh winters drove him to seek milder climates in the lowlands and he discovered Sinker Creek, so named because at one point it "sinks" out of sight into the ground. It is one of the few streams with near year-round flow in the Owyhee desert. Five miles from the current town of Murphy, Matt homesteaded the 160 acres which became the nucleus for the Joyce Ranch. The "Old Place" as it is still known, is located half a mile up the creek canyon from Paul Nettleton's current residence. Little remains of the original house, except a hole in the ground and a few basalt stones once used in the foundation. The house was victim of a flood. Rock from the Sinker Creek Canyon was the most available building material in this treeless range land, as a stone fence and a mud-chinked horse barn from the period still attest.

The original homestead,

around which 28 other homesteads were later wrapped to make the present Joyce Ranch, was not dedicated to cattle. The rich flood plane of Sinker creek was used for farming and ancient irrigation ditches dug by hand are still in use. Produce and milk sold to Silver City miners remained the Joyce specialty until the mid eighties, when Con Shae trailed a herd of beef cattle from Texas to Idaho and Matt Joyce obtained some. In 1878 Matt Joyce became one of the original founders of the Owyhee Cattlemen's Association which itself, was the first in the Idaho

Territory. The Joyce "M-J" brand is currently the oldest in the state.

The late seventies are known for another reason in Idaho history. It was the period of the Bannock Indian wars. The Nettleton home sits near a part of Sinker Creek bottom land which marks a "Joyce footnote" to that piece of history. The creek flood plane widens a bit at that location and is known as the "Indian Council Grounds." There, Bannock Shoshone would camp to take advantage of the oasis in a dry land which Sinker Creek afforded. Since the Indian camp site was less than a mile from

RE: NOTICE OF CLAIM NO[S]: A57-04099, A57-10485, A57-10486, A57-10487 and A57-10488

Dear Mr. Nettleton:

We are currently in the process of preparing the above referenced Notice(s) of Claim for court decree in the Snake River Basin Adjudication. During this review certain questions arose concerning the claims listed above. All claims with an A57 prefix number are being reviewed at this time. If you have other claims with this prefix, that are not shown here, we may be contacting you again if questions should arise during their review. Also, if you filed other claims with yet a different prefix for the claim number, such as A02, A51 or A55, please be advised that these claims will be reviewed at a later date. The above claims require the information or changes listed: Proof of Priority

These claims were filed based on beneficial use of water dating back to the late 1800's. On October 12, 1990, the Department sent you a letter requesting that you submit evidence supporting the priority date you have listed on the claims. This evidence was to have been submitted by December 1, 1990. However, this evidence has not been received in our office.

Before the Department can make a recommendation to the Court for decree of this claim, some evidence of the priority date claimed must be submitted. Again we are enclosing a brochure outlining types of evidence you may submit. If we do not receive the requested information, these claims will be recommended for disallowal due to lack of evidence supporting any priority date.

Thank you for your cooperation. If you have any questions be sure and contact me.

Sincerely,

Dear Claimant(s):

In the past, you submitted the above referenced claim(s) in the Snake River Basin Adjudication. Enclosed is a computer generated print-out of the claim(s) for your reference only; this print-out is NOT to be returned or re-filed. You have indicated when this claim was filed that the water right(s) was based on "Beneficial Use" of the water. Water rights of this type are established by the historical use of water for a beneficial purpose, dating back to the time the water was first used, this date being the "Priority Date" as shown on the enclosed print-out. Your claim(s) has not been confirmed by a previous filing with the Department of Water Resources since there is no license, decree or permit on file to verify the use of this water. For this reason, the Department is under a legal requirement to gather evidence from claimants supporting the date of first use, or "Priority Date", for claims based on historical beneficial use of water.

Enclosed is a pamphlet entitled "Evidence of Priority" which describes the types of evidence required and explains what kind of documents will fulfill this requirement. While we encourage you to read the entire pamphlet, we would like to direct your attention to the right-hand half of this pamphlet once you open it. There you will find information concerning the evidence requirements mentioned above. The other sections describe to you why this evidence is necessary.

If no evidence is submitted, or we do not hear from you within the time limit below, your priority date, as claimed, cannot be recommended to the Court for decree. This could jeopardize your water use under this right(s), if water availability problems arise in the future. It is our goal to decree the historical water rights within the Snake River Basin as accurately as possible. Field exams to verify other items of the above claim(s) have been or soon will be conducted by Department personnel.

Please submit the required evidence supporting the priority date(s) by December 1, 1990, referencing all documents with the corresponding claim number(s). If you have any questions not covered by this letter or the enclosed pamphlet, please contact a water resource agent in this office.

Sincerely,
