Dear Kay:

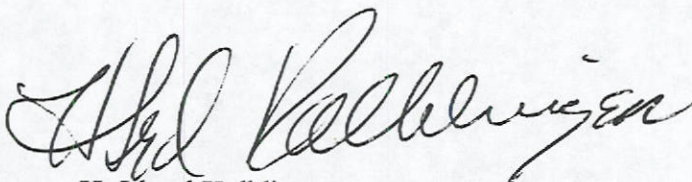

Per your letter of January 12, 1998 regarding the water rights on my Crouch, Idaho property. To the best of my knowledge and recollection the following is my statement as to the sequence of events on said property.

Mr. R. M. Hollingshead was the first owner of this property and was the individual who filed on all the water rights - seven (7) total. He used the water for many purposes including irrigation, home, garden, livestock etc.. His economic survival was totally supported by this property. Still standing on the land are a machine shed, hay storage shed, shop, grain storage building and milking barn (with milk - cooler storage room). The burned remains of a small house and chicken coop (I was told of these buildings by a local resident) were in evidence when I bought the property. Several years later I buried these remains and cleaned up the area. I am not sure when these buildings burned; however, it had to be prior to November 19, 1987 since I purchased the land in 1979.

Cattle grazed over the entire property except for a portion that was fenced to raise hay. I am not sure where the cattle drank water except that common sense tells me it was from one or several of the following sources: Pyle Creek, Kopes Creek, active springs, and a water tank near the milking barn (which was near the house and chicken coop). The water tank was most likely fed by a nearby well or the Middle Fork of the Payette River since all the old buildings described in this statement are very close to this river.

I hope this information will help in getting the water rights listed in your letter of January 12, 1998 transferred from domestic use to stockwater use. Please call or write if you need additional information or any clarification. Thanks again for all your help. It is much appreciated.

Sincerely,

H. Lloyd Kalblinger

Gentlemen:

I just located your files in my office and thought I had better get a letter off to you in regard to your domestic claims. I learned that we can amend your claims to show that the domestic use is for stockwater rather than a home. We will require that you submit a statement about when the change occurred, i.e. when the house burned down and stock began drinking the water. If this occurred prior to November 19, 1987, we can look at this as an accomplished transfer. If the change occurred after November 19, 1987, you will need to file a transfer application to change the use of the rights.

Please submit a statement regarding the events of the domestic uses; that is, when the house burned down and when the stock began to drink water at the domestic locations. Once we receive your statement, we will be able to determine if the claims can be amended or if you need to file an application for transfer.

If you have any questions in regard to this matter, please feel free to contact our office.

Sincerely,

KAY WALKER

Dear Kay:

Per your letter of January 12, 1998 regarding the water rights on my Crouch, Idaho property. To the best of my knowledge and recollection the following is my statement as to the sequence of events on said property.

Mr. R. M. Hollingshead was the first owner of this property and was the individual who filed on all the water rights - seven (7) total. He used the water for many purposes including irrigation, home, garden, livestock etc.. His economic survival was totally supported by this property. Still standing on the land are a machine shed, hay storage shed, shop, grain storage building and milking barn (with milk - cooler storage room). The burned remains of a small house and chicken coop (I was told of these buildings by a local resident) were in evidence when I bought the property. Several years later I buried these remains and cleaned up the area. I am not sure when these buildings burned; however, ~~approximately~~ prior to November 19, 1980 ~~that I purchased the land in 1979.~~

Cattle grazed over the entire property except for a portion that was fenced to raise hay. I am not sure where the cattle drank water except that common sense tells me it was from one or several of the following sources: Pylé Creek, Kopes Creek, active springs, and a water tank near the milking barn (which was near the house and chicken coop). The water tank was most likely fed by a nearby well or the Middle Fork of the Payette River since all the old buildings described in this statement are very close to this river.

I hope this information will help in getting the water rights listed in your letter of January 12, 1998 transferred from domestic use to stockwater use. Please call or write if you need additional information or any clarification. Thanks again for all your help. It is much appreciated.

Sincerely,

H. Lloyd Kalblinger

Gentlemen:

I just located your files in my office and thought I had better get a letter off to you in regard to your domestic claims. ~~that we can amend your claims to show that the domestic use is for stockwater rather than a home.~~ We will require that you submit a statement about when the change occurred, i.e. when the house burned down and stock began drinking the water. If this occurred prior to November 19, 1987, we can look at this as an accomplished transfer. If the change occurred after November 19, 1987, you will need to file a transfer application to change the use of the rights.

Please submit a statement regarding the events of the domestic uses; that is, when the house burned down and when the stock began to drink water at the domestic locations. Once we receive your statement, we will be able to determine if the claims can be amended or if you need to file an application for transfer.

If you have any questions in regard to this matter, please feel free to contact our office.

Sincerely,
