E. REASONS SUPPORTING OBJECTION(S): The IDWR recommendation for the combined quantity of water rights 21-93, 21-13013, 21-145, 21-146, and 21-12992, is based upon the recommended combined acre limitation of 421.8 acres (421.8 acres times 0.02 cfs = 8.44 cfs). These water rights were previously owned by Mr. Richard Blanchard, and he is most familiar with the historical irrigation practices carried out on the property. The water right licenses for the above water rights authorize an irrigated acreage of approximately 650 acres. According to Mr. Blanchard, the infrared aerial photo that IDWR relied upon to determine acreage does not represent what should be partially decreed. IDWR's place of use map has areas that appear on the infrared photo to be dark, and therefore not irrigated. According to Mr. Blanchard, these areas are the areas on the property that are the least productive on the property. When water availability has decreased, those acres were the acres that were not irrigated for the remainder of the year. According to Mr. Blanchard, had water been available under all of his water rights, those entire areas would have been irrigated. We are unsure what the acreage would be with these areas included, but it would certainly be more than 421.8 acres. Also, because of the porosity of some of the areas of the property, greater quantities of water are required to irrigate these areas. This is another reason why the quantity limitation on the water rights should not be allowed. In sum, the claimant objects to the conditions limiting the above water rights to a combined diversion rate of 8.44 cfs and a combined acre limitation of 421.8 acres. Individually these rights would allow diversion of 13.8 cfs and irrigation of 650 acres. The claimant believes this is how the water rights should be partially decreed.
