Mr. Trowse called me today about the letter I sent to him. He was wondering about what evidence we needed. I explained that warranty deeds would be a place to start and that we may also want to look at his property given the fact that this is a statutory claim. He also wants to "trade" his surface water right so he can drill a well. I told him that would be unlikely but that a transfer would be required and that he needs to contact Idaho Falls Office with regards with this proposed change in point of diversion. He was concerned about not having received prior notification that he needed to provide evidence; I told him I wasn't sure what method was used to contact him previously but he was very agreeable. He will contact Cindy in the next couple of weeks but has the idea that she will "write a recommendation" to the Idaho Falls office that will somehow assist him with his proposed transfer so there is a little confusion yet. I don't think he could hear me very well. In any event, he has contact me and he will be following up with Cindy in the next week or so.
