Re: Your SRBA claim

January 17, 2006

Dear Mr. Dart:

I apologize for having to make another request for assistance with your Snake River Basin Adjudication (SRBA) claims. Either I neglected to inform you of the filing fees associated with SRBA claims during our phone conversation or you forgot to include it you're your claim. The former is probably the case since I don't normally deal with monetary issues here, so I apologize again.

A filing fee must accompany all claims filed in the SRBA. Filing fees for your type of claim (irrigation) is $50. Additionally, claims for irrigation are charged $1 per irrigated acre claimed. In total then, for your claim on 8.5 acres of irrigation in the SRBA, we require a check for $58.50 before your claim can be processed.

I have included all of the documents that you submitted originally so that you may keep your check with your claim. Please resubmit all of the documents originally submitted plus your check for $58.50.

Again, I apologize for this inconvenience. As usual, please contact me if you have any questions. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Daniel L. Narsavage
