Memo to file:

Scott Stufebeam, who is a member of the board of directors for Little Butte Irrigation Company, called to make certain we received his FAX. He does not represent the irrigation company. They do not have legal counsel. He prepared the document entitled "Water Deed" to satisfy our needs.

He said that the secretary of the irrigation company died after 30 years of service. Then his widow threw out all of the records. No one has a copy of the original transfer but they do agree that it was done. So the "Water Deed" is also an affidavit. I told him we may need to have our attorney interpret the legality of the document. He asked that he be called if there was a question.

He agreed that the document wasn't dated but it has been recorded and is public record. I told that documents sent to IDWR could not be confidential since our records were not private.

He wanted assurance that they had provided all that was required to satisfy their claim. I advised that I was the information collector and it would need to be reviewed by an agent before a recommendation could be made.

Re: Snake River Basin Adjudication (SRBA)
Claim 27-10878

Subject: Carl Winkler exchange

Response Date: September 3, 2004

Dear Claimant (s):

Thank you for your letter dated August 19 forwarding copies of 3 documents relating to the above referenced water claim. You stated that Carl Winkler exchanged his interest in the water transferred to him by Warranty Deed dated August 15, 1928 to Little Butte Irrigation Company. However, you did not furnish a copy of the Deed within Mr. Winkler transferred the water to the irrigation company. Please provide a copy of this deed so that a clear path of exchange can be shown for the Fox and Whitten water to the Little Butte Irrigation Company.

If you cannot respond by the above response date, please let our office know. Otherwise, this claim may be recommended to be disallowed.

Respectfully,

Barbara Payne
