

I have personal knowledge by myself, my father, and my grandfather that water was run during the winter into a pond located on our property for the purpose of maintaining the underground water levels. When we did not run the water in the winter, the well went dry. This practice was on going since the ownership of our farm, which was established in 1924.

My Father John Klein and his sons farmed in the Welford Area for many years.

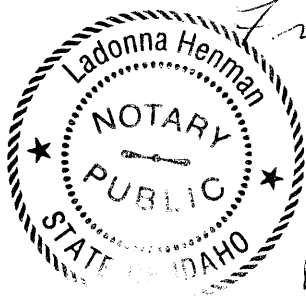

They maintained water rights in the Fall River Irrigation System and also the Farmer Friend Irrig. System.

They felt it was beneficial to them and their neighbors to run water in the systems in the Fall and early winter to help recharge the aquifer.

They could use some water in the spring to bring the sub-ups to irrigate their crop and pasture land.

Also it helped to maintain the domestic wells and recharge them.

At this time I still have farm ground and maintain water rights in the Fall River and Farmer Friend Canal systems.

My grandfather served in Sweden and his two sons farmed in the wild area of Fremont County for many years -

They maintained water right in the Fall River Irrigation System.

They felt it was beneficial to them and their neighbors to run water in the fall and early

Therefore in the spring they used less water to bring the sub - up for irrigating their crops - and pasture land.

My name is Robert Carlton. I am 73 years old and I reside at 2479 E 400N, St. Anthony, ID. My property lies within what was the Fall River Irrigation. Co. which is now merged to form South East Idaho Canal Company. As a young man I could remember my father AB Carlton running water during the winter months into our ponds and sink holes. He said that it was to help the underground water level which in turn helps our wells. I have continued the practice running winter water as much as possible into our low areas. Several neighbors have done the same thing where possible to maintain water levels in our area.

To Whom It May Concern,

I grew up on a farm about two and one half miles south east of St. Anthony. On this farm there was a pond and as near as I can remember my Dad would from time to time turn water into this pond. There was also a pond on our eighty acre pasture that was about one mile east of the first pond, and as I remember there was a ditch that Dad would turn water into this pond.

Note: I was born on the lower place May 29, 1922.

Sincerely,

Gray A. Birch

The Fall River canal runs through our farm. In 71 yrs old now, I can't remember when we didn't water the livestock from the canal. I took over the farm from my dad in 1955 & continued to water livestock from canal all these yrs. My two sons are now running the dairy & it would be a big advantage for them to water livestock from canal
