E. REASONS SUPPORTING OBJECTION(S):

GENERAL DENIAL

For the reasons described below, the State of Idaho denies that the United States has taken any action sufficient under the law for the creation of the claimed federal reserved water right for purposes of administrative uses at the Lester Creek Guard Station.

The United States Supreme Court has characterized the federal reserved water right as the exception to the general rule regarding compliance with state water law. The Court stated:

Each time this Court has applied the 'implied-reservation-of-water doctrine,' it has carefully examined both the asserted water right and the specific purposes for which the land was reserved, and concluded that without the water the purposes of the reservation would be entirely defeated.

United States v. New Mexico, 438 U.S. 696, 700; 98 S.Ct. 3012, 3014; 57 L.Ed.2d 1052, 1057 (Footnote omitted). The Court went on to state two reasons for this careful examination. The water right is implied, rather than express, and congress has a long history of deferring to state water law when it has expressly addressed the question of whether the federal government must comply with state water law. Id. 438 U.S. at 701-702, 98 S.Ct. at 3015, 57 L.Ed.2d at 1058. The purposes of the reservation would not be entirely defeated in the absence of an implied federal reserved water right.

REASONS FOR CHECKING EACH BOX

- Box 1: A claimant designation is unnecessary if a federal reserved water right does not exist.
- Box 2: Objector denies that the Proclamation entered on November 6, 1906 impliedly or expressly reserved ground water and that the Organic Administration Act of June 4, 1897, 30 Stat. 34, 16 U.S.C. § 473 et seq. authorized the reservation of ground water for forest reservations.
- Box 3: Objector denies that the Proclamation entered on November 6, 1906 impliedly or expressly reserved ground water and that the Organic Administration Act of June 4, 1897, 30 Stat. 34, 16 U.S.C. § 473 et seq. authorized the reservation of ground water for forest reservations.
- Box 4a: Objector denies that the Proclamation entered on November 6, 1906 impliedly or expressly reserved ground water and that the Organic Administration Act of June 4, 1897, 30 Stat. 34, 16 U.S.C. § 473 et seq. authorized the reservation of ground water for forest reservations.

Box 4b: Objector denies that the Proclamation entered on November 6, 1906 impliedly or expressly reserved ground water and that the Organic Administration Act of June 4, 1897, 30 Stat. 34, 16 U.S.C. § 473 et seq. authorized the reservation of ground water for forest reservations.

Box 5: Objector denies that the quantity claimed has any relationship to the primary purposes described in the Organic Administration Act of June 4, 1897, 30 Stat. 34, 16 U.S.C. § 473 et seq. .

Box 6: A designation of total consumptive use is unnecessary if a federal reserved water right does not exist.

Box 7: A designation of present and future uses is unnecessary if a federal reserved water right does not exist.

Box 8: A statement of remarks is unnecessary if a federal reserved water right does not exist.
