Please see analysis in A24-10676.

I propose 48 acres within 58 acre PPU for A24-10676 and 10 acres within 58 acre PPU for A24-10031.

Bae 28 Sept 2005

also attached a Word document that recaps the claims. It is labeled timeline for 24-10031. As you can tell they have supplied us with many documents. Some we can tie down to the claims POU but others we cannot. All of them are within the original township and range of the original Desert Land Certificate issued to Walter Barber. The section changes and then they refer to the land as Lots and it gets a bit confusing to try and follow the lineage.

We have marked that you still have 24-10031. Do you need these 3 new claims?

Do we, or you, have sufficient evidence to support the 3 new claims?

When Fred was in the Soda office he mentioned that there was no dairy use. Has this been verified?

Thanks for your help.

I have taken notes on what Mr. Brog said would be in the new claims but to physically have them in hand would be well. Rather than risk transport of original claims, I'd be happy if you faxed them (208 524 4179) or e-mailed me the electronic version.

The water use is all in place for the new claims, though it won't make any sense until you see the writeup in A24-10031. The evidence of priority is not real shiny, no better nor worse for the new claims than for A24-10031. I haven't really analyzed it.

I hope I am doing what Cindy wants; if there is evidence of priority in the file I leave it for her to analyze, if there isn't I try to get some. Cindy's requirements for burden of proof seems a lot higher than mine was when I was a dept. employee, I don't know if that is a personal difference in interpreting the instructions from Boise or if the instructions have been tightened.

I think the dairy use is under claim A24-10035 which is not in my box. I also quizzed Mr. Brog about that and, while it is not in use at present it was in use as of the date of claims taking, so it needs to be recommended (at least, it would have been under the instructions in place three or four years ago). If it needs a field exam I'd be glad to do that. I meant to ask if that was needed and it slipped my mind, thanks for the reminder.

As to the lineage of the POU on the claims, I'm going to write up a general narrative for the Tincup area. As near as I can decipher the history is that the valley was laid out into 160-acre homesteads and patents granted, and then along came the surveyors and laid out the Idaho Public Land Survey system offset about 1000 feet east-west and a similar distance north-south from what had been used previously. So every 160 acre parcel instead of containing four quarter-quarters contains bits of about 16, and usually from at least four different sections. The old homestead patents (and some old 2000-series licenses from about 1900 to 1920) appear to describe the physical places of use in terms of the old layout, but the deeds appear to match the new. Consequently there is this recurring theme of stuff not exactly matching, with the appearance of an accomplished place of use. It also results in some ownership disputes when deeds appear not to match natural divisions suggested by county roads and long-standing fences.

Hope this helps, Bryce.

Cindy,

Fred Brog came into the office with many supporting documents. I will prepare a timeline separately. When he was in the office, He showed me on the map what was his land. I got him to sit down and show me on the computer where the 69 "claimed" acres are located. The attached map totals 64.3 acres. I didn't spend the time to tweak it to 69 since what you do may change the shape. He admitted that he is irrigating more than the 69 acres. I mentioned possibly filing an enlargement claim but that he would need to talk with you.

When he was collecting the documents, he noticed that the water was used much earlier than the 1967 claimed date. He wanted to know if he could change the date. I directed him to talk to you about that. He did call back today to talk with you but you were not back from Blackfoot as yet.
