To Whom It May Concern:

My family has had a cabin on the south shore of Spirit Lake, Idaho for seventy years. For much of that time I have known Michael Paul well, as a good friend. In 1969 he was building his first small house on the hill above the south shore of Spirit Lake, and I visited him summer 1969 and inspected his water system. It is my certain knowledge that Michael Paul has drawn water from a stream on his property from that time to the present.

Sincerely,

John M. Finney
