Jan,

Thank you very much for the help on Monday. It really simplified things for us.

We talked about the Forest Service claim, 78-12010 McCrea Creek, and I agreed to check when I got home. As far as we can determine what the Forest Service was filing on is a pipe that came from the irrigation ditch to the cabin for domestic water. There is no diversion for stock water that we are aware of. In any case the cattle can drink from the creek. We did file an objection on this Forest Service claim, but considering the circumstances, we do not think it is appropriate for us to file a claim.

One instream claim that I overlooked when talking to you is the Forest Service claim no. 78-10649 Mill Creek. When I looked, no director's report had been filed, so we did not object to the Forest Service claim, but we should file a similar claim for Mill Creek.

There is one other claim that the Forest Service filed where we objected. It is 78-04239 North Trail Spring. Should we file a claim? The reason we did not initially file a claim is that there is no development at this spring. We understood that there had to be an actual development before a claim could be filed. Years ago there was a shake sign on a tree along the trail with the word "water" pointing toward the spring.

Let us know when you are ready and we will make a point of coming to Boise to sign whatever forms are needed. Again, thank you for your help.

AND OTHERS TRIP TO W.F.K. RAPID RIVER (ICLAIM)

The following claims are ones where the Forest Service filed a claim and we filed an objection, but we did not file a claim. The reason we did not file a claim is that these are free flowing streams with no diversion. At the time we were told you could not file a claim for stock water on a free flowing stream. You could only file a claim if there was a diversion.
