Field Exam Notes

Field Exam Date: 8-26-99

Claim Nos: A43-00148, -00337, -02051, -02058, -02214.
Surface rights, Bruce Durfee

Agent: Vikie Hancock

The above claims are for surface rights on Raft River.

A43-00148 and -00337 are based on rights to Raft River decreed in the Jobe Adams decree of 1928. Both have priority dates of 1882.

A43-02051, -02058, -02214 are based upon licenses issued for water from Raft River in 1909, 1911 and 1917, respectively. Note that claim A43-02200 is based upon a license for Circle Creek in 1915, appurtenant to the N ½ of section 12, and not included in the analysis.

All decrees and licenses were issued to different parties on separate acreages that Elbert Durfee (father now deceased) and his sons Bruce and Kent subsequently purchased, and farm. It appears that neither of the rights decreed in 1928 supercedes any licenses, as they are not appurtenant to any of the same tracts.

From a history of the irrigation documented in file 43-4018 for the investigation of Transfer #2851, it is determined that groundwater was tapped as a source for the irrigation of the lands in the S ½ of section 12 as early as 1942. ASCS maps from 1957 and 1962 show a total of 163 acres irrigated out of the 236 licensed and decreed acres for Raft River water in the S ½ of section 12. Possible explanations are that the diminished availability of Raft River water had caused a decreased number of acres to be irrigated in the years following the issuance of the three licenses and the two decrees, as is evidenced by the need for supplemental groundwater. It is also probable that the number of acres calculated as identified in the Jobe Adams decree was excessive. A portion of decreed right 148, for the NESW, was most likely uphill of the conveyance ditches of the day, and a portion of decreed right 337, for the NWSE, included the actual Raft River and it's historically unstable banks. In addition, the license exam for right 43-02058 failed to note a steep hillside that encompasses 18 of the 40 acres licensed, which claimant agrees has never been irrigated.

A field exam conducted August 26, 1999 found a diversion in the NW NE SE Section 14, and ditches still in place for the conveyance of water from Raft River to the place of use. Claimant stated that the amount of water available is limited due to their priority dates. Because of the limited nature of the source, the claimant has not spent the time or money necessary to incorporate the surface water into his current sprinkler system, as was done when only had lines were used. Claimant said that they quit using surface water in their sprinklers when the pivots were put in, sometime in the late 1970s or early 1980s. When water is available from Raft River to fill their decrees and licenses, they use ditches to flood irrigate the south half of section 12. In reality, they have seldom had more than enough to irrigate the SESE in recent years. It should be noted that, since the 1987 NAPP aerial photo was taken, the channel of Raft River has been moved by the claimant. It now flows east along the south boundary of section 12, and north along the east boundary of section 12. See GIS layout for description of ditches still in use.

Based upon IDWR policy, the surface water rights will be recommended even though there is evidence that there has been little use of them in recent years due to the unavailability of water. Surface water rights will be limited to 1 inch per acre when combined with groundwater rights.

*See claim file 43-148 for photos,
description of surface ditches*
