DESCRIPTIVE SUMMARY

Pursuant to the Special Master's order of November 30, 1995, the claimant, Herb Whitworth, the objector, United States, and IDWR submit this Joint Pretrial Stipulation for the above-referenced subcase.

STIPULATIONS TO ADMISSIONS OF FACT

The parties and IDWR stipulate to the following admissions of fact:

1. There is sufficient evidence of beneficial use to establish a priority date of April 15, 1890, for this water right.¹

¹ The parties and IDWR do not intend this stipulation of fact to resolve the issue regarding the correct priority date. The court must still determine whether the Utah Constr. Co. v. Abbott Decree bars a priority date earlier than March 16, 1923, for this water right. If the court finds that the Abbott Decree

2. The claimant, Herb Whitworth, is a party in privity to the Utah Constr. Co. v. Abbott Decree.

STIPULATIONS TO THE ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE

The parties and IDWR stipulate to the admissibility of the following evidence to be offered by IDWR:

1. Certified copy of IDWR Claims Investigation Manual;
2. Certified copy of IDWR Adjudication Memorandum no. 14;
and
3. Certified copy of the Utah Constr. Co. v. Abbott Decree.

The parties, however, intend their stipulation to the admissibility of the above-listed evidence to apply to this subcase only. They reserve the right to object to the admissibility of this evidence in other subcases.

The parties and IDWR stipulate to the admissibility of the following evidence to be submitted by the claimant, Herb Whitworth: Copy of a Stipulation signed by the Utah Construction Company and Thousand Springs Land and Irrigation Company.

does not apply, then based on the above stipulation of fact, the parties and IDWR agree that the priority date should be April 15, 1890, based on evidence of beneficial use submitted to IDWR by the claimant.
