The rate per acre calculations are based upon a 300 foot run at a 2% slope. An 8 hour set time was also used. Individual graded border evaluations, soil characteristics work sheets, and peak irrigation diversion requirement work sheets have been created and archived separately for each soil type.

Where actual rotation is shorter than the optimal rotation, optimal rotation is the criteria to be used for the recommendation analysis and, therefore, the rotation percentage adjustment is not necessary. The rate becomes the acres per soil type times the rate per acre from the above chart.

NARRATIVE-A72-00219A, B AND C SYSTEM DESCRIPTION AND

OVERLAP REVIEW by Frank Hitchcock 08-28-1996

GARDNER, EARL V.

The three claims filed by Gardner represent the splitting of a water right decreed 02-14-1938 for usages from three separate sources. The separation of the right into three different claims more clearly identifies the individual sources.

The A portion represents the entire flow of Little Wickiup Creek that flows onto the south end of the property near the airplane hangar and is diverted by a concrete check structure onto ground just north of the hangar and its concrete apron and south towards the homesite. Claimant stated that water can reach the ground near the second power pole. (see tip-out photo sequence in the file at labeled print PIX 12 that clearly shows the poles and the claimed POU)

The creek channel comes down the elevation between the homesite and the hangar. There is an abandoned Pelton wheel and related hardware just above the lane or "old" road before the channel drops down along the hangar and into the POU.

NOTE:

The ground north of the power pole is irrigated by water from Salmon River, East Fork and is claimed under another split of this decreed right as it is from a separate source. See the C portion of this base number A72-00219 for the system description that reaches the POU acres above the POU recommended for the A portion.

The B portion represents the majority of the flow of Wickiup Creek at the opposite, north, end of the property. The creek flow is diverted through a length of pipe positioned in the fall of the creek channel and goes down a shallow ditch that descends onto the place of use at the base of the elevation between the "old" road and the "new" road. The channel passes an abandoned mobile home on the ridge in the trees and then meanders down the side of the elevation.

The C portion represents the Salmon River, East Fork flows and serves the center of the subject property on the west and the east side of the runway between both the "old" road and the "new" road along the channel of the river. Claimant stated at field exam that unusually high runoff in 1973 destroyed the original diversion works and conveyance which is evidenced by the abandoned fish screen along the "new" road in the now almost silted-in ditch still visible while driving by.

A diversion channel extends into the Salmon River, East Fork and the flow is controlled by a headgate leading to a ditch on the east side of the river channel. The ditch makes a right angle bend and flows through a culvert set in concrete into a large metal pipe that extends across the river channel. An open ditch then passes under the road in a culvert and exits into the claimed lands in another open ditch that passes through a series of concrete check structures with metal plates.

The ditch extends from the culvert on the west side of the "new" road and can be turned to the north along the landing strip as well as under the landing strip in order to irrigate ground north of the second power pole on the hangar side or west side of the runway. Manual cuts in the ditches allows for water to be checked and turned at will along the ground claimed.

Claimed acreages are separately irrigated from their claimed sources and no overlapping occurs.

Claimant stated that he irrigates by changing water on weekends when he came up from Idaho Falls and over the years has worked out the following system:

A72-00219A: about a week to irrigate the acres at the south end of the property out of Little Wickiup Creek.

A72-00219B: about one week for irrigation of the north end of the property out of Wickiup Creek.

A72-00219C: about two weeks to irrigate the center of the property on both sides of the runway out of Salmon River, East Fork.

NOTE: Updated 09-18-1996 by FH to more completely describe the POU and the system for delivering the water to the "high ground" in the center of the ranch north of the hangar and west of the runway along the power line parallel to the "old" road.

NOTES:

The Pol shown is located at the lateral north end of the property well above the landing strip. At the time I signed my findings report that the ditch was nearly the same as originally used for the 5 acre.

I walked the parcel on 06-29-1993 to photograph the value. As the ditch showed the ditch is well to above the ground and the adjacent slope even in the proper perspective the ground.

Claimant states his location there about a mile to down the road with normal terrain.
