I do not understand what a Hebble analysis is but it is alright with us for the Dept. to do so as I can see we have nothing to lose by doing so, because as I review the July report with what I understood I or we would get nothing at all.

Knowing by experience the ditch loss, the amount recommended for use for us would be entirely consumed in loss by the time the water reached our property.

As of this date I cannot deliver water to the end of the ditches without depriving some of their shares on at least three systems because Big Bend and Brailsford. On August 21, 1996 the water never reached Gustafson at all. I have seen this happen repeatedly in 100° temperature for the last 30 years.

The report I received from I.O.W.R. was entirely twisted - they must have closed their eyes and ears on every thing on our behalf.

Sincerely
Claus C. Lloyd
