This property was originally homesteaded in the late 1910's to early 1920's by the Schatz family. The original cabin burned down in the 1970's, but the original barn is still standing. In 1972, Sally Schatz and her father built a new log cabin on the site and had a well drilled (well driller's report attached).

After a series of owners, Sandra Lane and Gerald Garmire applied for water rights (claim #95-15112.) They lost the property in a foreclosure, and we bought it from Fannie Mae in December of 2011.
