NOTICE TO CLAIM TO WATER RIGHT

In the Spring of 1879, Alex Toponoch established a base camp at the site of what is now known as the Keefer Ranch. This was used as a staging area for the construction of the Custer Toll Road. (A wagon road running from Challis to the mines at Bonanza and Custer) In building the road from the ranch to Slab Barn Lake it became evident that extra mules and oxen would be needed to pull freight wagons up, what is known as the Corkscrew Mountain, section. Because the camp site was the only land available that could raise any type of forage, a water system was established to take water out of Mill Creek and irrigate approximately 35 acres of grassland. Also at this time a spring was developed for Domestic use. Point of diversion is described in Civil Case #39576.

Over the years a number of men maintained the site until 1918 when Richard West took over the site and filed a Forest Homestead Entry on December 27, 1922. The ranch stayed in the West family until 1965 when Robert and Nida Keefer purchased it. At that time a gravity flow sprinkler system was installed and the point of diversion was established as described in a Civil Case #39576. Because this water has been used almost continuously since May 1879, we feel this ranch is entitled to a legal Water Right.
