

Comments for 95-51, 95-112, 95-4474 and 95-10996

For 95-51

This claim is for 1 home and overlaps with claim 95-10996 which is for 4 homes. Claim 95-112 is for 1 of the 4 homes, and claim 95-4474 is for the other 2 homes. The homes are not in a subdivision, so the three claims will each have a combined 13,000 gallon per day limit with 95-10996. However, since 95-10966 is for all four homes and has a priority date of 1997, which is after the ban on stacking multiple domestic rights in 42-111(2), 95-10996 will be limited to 2,500 gallons per day.

For 95-112

This claim is for 1 home and overlaps with claim 95-10996 which is for 4 homes. Claim 95-51 is for 1 of the 4 homes, and claim 95-4474 is for the other 2 homes. The homes are not in a subdivision, so the three claims will each have a combined 13,000 gallon per day limit with 95-10996. However, since 95-10966 is for all four homes and has a priority date of 1997, which is after the ban on stacking multiple domestic rights in 42-111(2), 95-10996 will be limited to 2,500 gallons per day.

For 95-4474

This claim is for 2 homes and overlaps with claim 95-10996 which is for 4 homes. Claim 95-51 is for 1 of the 4 homes, and claim 95-112 is for the other 1 home. The homes are not in a subdivision, so the three claims will each have a combined 13,000 gallon per day limit with 95-10996. However, since 95-10966 is for all four homes and has a priority date of 1997, which is after the ban on stacking multiple domestic rights in 42-111(2), 95-10996 will be limited to 2,500 gallons per day.

For 95-10996

This claim is for 4 homes and overlaps three other claims. Claim 95-51 is for one of the homes; claim 95-112 is for another home and claim 95-4474 is for the remaining two homes. The homes are not in a subdivision, so each of the 3 overlapping claims will have a total combined 13,000 gallon per day limit with 95-10996. However, since 95-10966 is for all four homes and has a priority date of 1997, which is after the ban on stacking multiple domestic rights in 42-111(2), 95-10996 will be limited to 2,500 gallons per day.