3. My property borders the Coeur d'Alene River on the south and I own a portion of a 20 acre beaver pond on the east. I have not claimed any water rights on either of these two sources. My only claim is on my domestic well which is capable of 27,000 gallons/day. So why a 13,000 gallon limit?

I assume 13,000 gallons/day is more than sufficient for a residential home but I also have some acreage and may need the full output of my well. How would you ascertain my usage? Does this water rights program give the state the right to meter my well? If it does, I won't comply. If it doesn't then these numbers are unenforceable.

I want the right to use the full output of my well, which is 27,000 gallons/day.
