In the late 50's I was managing the Round Valley Circle C Ranch in New Meadows. The High Line Ditch ran through the homestead ranch. The wood head gate for Trail Creek had to be put back together every 2 or 3 days. I got tired of putting it back together so we decided to put cement up there so we wouldn't have to go up there so much. When we were putting cement in, the boss's son, Dave Campbell, came up and wanted to know what I was doing. Dave told his dad, Rollie and Rollie wanted me to put it back in wood. I told him if his dad wanted to go up there every few damn days, he could. Made it a lot simpler and we could control the water better.

I managed irrigating all of Round Valley from 1955 to 1989. The places marked on the map were the places where I moved the water.
