SUBJECT: Notice of Error Reply on Notice of Claim (Claim) to a Water Right Number 95-11454

Dear Mr. Hazel:

I am writing in regard to the Notice of Error Reply submitted for the above claim. On this form you indicated that our proposed recommendation of the water right with priority date of June 24, 1993, should have been recommended for October 8, 1939.

Unfortunately, we are not able to change our recommendation as the evidence submitted with the claim supports the usage of a well (groundwater) back to June 24, 1993. We have no additional evidence supporting an earlier priority date from a groundwater source for the domestic usage on that parcel.

A check of our records does show, however, that there is a decreed water right on that parcel, numbered 95-0069. This is from a spring source with priority of June 1, 1939, for domestic usage. This is a different source from the ground water source and a claim was not filed on that spring indicating that it is no longer being used.

I am enclosing an informational sheet which will direct you to our website where you may research this water right and determine, if, in fact, a claim should be filed on this spring source. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Linda A. Werner
Water Resource Agent, Sr.

Tips on Successful Water Right Searches

- In general, text searches respond more quickly than map searches.
- Define your search for water rights by at least two (2) search items, such as Last Name and Source.
- Spelling can be an issue. The more you enter, the less chance of an exact match. Enter a portion of a Last Name or Organization for a broader "wild card" search. For example, "Joh" may return Johns, Johansen, Johnson, etc.
- The application defaults to "All" six types, with a maximum of 1,000 records per type. The search will stop at 1,000 records per type even when more records may fit the search criteria. To avoid missing records, choose more search items to refine your search, and/or choose to search one type of water right at a time.
