Good morning

The dressed up boys Robert, Harold, Don and Everett were born here. I suppose they were home to visit dad.

I looked at the two cars in the picture and if someone gave them to you (restored of course) selling them to a collector would really boost your lifestyle choices.

The trees were limbed high to be sure there would be plenty of wind power to the windmill you see in the picture. The building on the left side is the house; the right side by the second vehicle is the barn. Back then everyone had their crop land, a garden, horses, a milk cow and chickens. That has long been ancient history since stores and Malls are now where you get staples.

The ages of the people shown are recorded below. Otha (the dad) is on the left side.

I am optimistic this will be enough proof with the photos and information enclosed. I will get this in the mail tomorrow or Saturday when I am in town.

Thanks for your help,

Ben Jemes
