Summary of Known Water Use from Cedar Creek and Cole Creek streams on Cedar Creek Ranch

- I. Information gathered from previous owners from Cedar Creek Grazing, Maurice and Marcel Gentillon.

Prior to the purchase of Cedar Creek Ranch by Cedar Creek Grazing association in 1967, the ranch was owned by Walt Vanderford. Vanderford maintained a head gate at the upper end of the field (see #1 on map) as the initial diversion from Cedar Creek. Flooding in the field began at this point. Diversions using canvas dams were used to divert water from the same ditch into the field for the next approximate 3/4 mile on the east side of the field (see #2 on map) Ditch is in black on map #1. Area watered is shaded in red on map #1. On the Cole creek stream Vanderford maintained a pond (see #3 on the map), to store water and release into a ditch down the west side of the field. Water was diverted by canvas dams from ditch. At some time prior to Cedar Creeks grazing purchase, this dam was washed out and the limited water supply from Cole Creek was diverted from the ditch into field when sufficient water was present. See watered area on #2 map shaded in yellow.

- II. Information of use after the purchase of the Cedar Creek ranch by Gentillons in 1967

The use of the Cedar Creek water for irrigation was continued as previously described until the spring of 1983. In May of 1983 the two foot snow pack melted within 3 days and torrential run off washed out the head gate and ditch at the top end of field. This damage made the ditch too deep to divert water. During the flooding cedar trees were cut and thrown in the ditch to try to hold dirt from washing but didn't help. The area where head gate was washed out went from a depth of two feet to seventeen feet deep. A leveler was lowered into trench to see how deep cut was. After flood the initial area of diversion was moved down field. (See #4 on map) The same flood broke through the bank of the ditch half way down the field and created a wash that was fifteen feet deep and ten feet wide. The bottom half of the field was no longer capable of watering from eroded area down field (see #5) because of this deep erosion damage of the ditch. Efforts were made to try to restore washed out cut by dropping large round bails into area and covering with dirt but due to the size of cut and type of soil in the area restoration was not successful and water could not be channeled back into the original ditch flow from this point below. Flood irrigation from new diversion point to the damaged area was continued as before with diversion from the ditch with canvas dams. Watered area after 1983 damage on Cedar creek is shaded in green on map # 3.

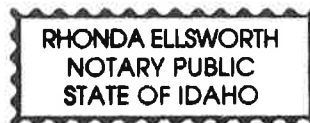

On the Cole creek stream Gentillons never repaired diversion pond that had previously washed out but created a new diversion point further up stream (see #6) where water was channeled into a pipe that provided the source to flood irrigate the field. In the summer of 1972 the actual spring that supplies Cole Creek was developed with a spring box and piped to the field for irrigation and other use. The use of a 15 pipe hand line was used to distribute water on to field. Irrigated area from Cole creek spring is shaded in orange on map #4.

III. Summary

The use of water for irrigation though difficult at times, has been maintained since the purchase of the ranch in 1967. Changes noted over the history of ownership were diversion point on cedar creek due to damage to ditch and loss of irrigatable acres by almost half. Cole creek diversion was moved from pond up stream and piped to the field in 1967. In 1972 to provide full potential of water a spring box was installed at spring for storage and a new water line supplied water to field for irrigation and other use. Taking into consideration all of the information and points of diversion filling on spring in Cole creek would seem to be most applicable .

Field exam 5/10/2010 notes:

Met Rulon Jones on the property and took photos of the place of use and points of diversion. Also gathered gps points. Rulon indicated that he had not irrigated the property during the time that he had owned it (about 6 years) because he wasn't sure he had water rights and he didn't want to violate the rules. He said that when he purchased the property the previous owner said that he only had stockwater rights. However since Rulon believed the property had been irrigated, he decided to file irrigation claims.

I requested detailed evidence of priority in order to document the historic water use. I also asked for marked up aerial photos showing the location of the pou and pod for the 2 claims. Because Rulon was not knowledgeable in regards to the historic operation of the irrigation system, he said that he was going to get that information from a previous owner.

The Cedar Creek diversions to both the north and south ditches have led to serious erosion problems. There is also erosion in the ditch which injects Cedar Creek water into Cole Creek. The diversions make it difficult to positively identify the natural channel of Cedar Creek.

The source for the Cole Creek claim may actually be a spring tributary to Cole Creek. The spring, which is located in the SESE of section 25, is fenced off, so there may be a spring box located there which feeds a buried line. The exposed pipe shown in the photo captured a small amount of water on the surface, but it was not clear where the pipe discharged. A single riser is located in the NWSE of section 25 near the A frame building. There was only a very small flow of water coming out of the open riser. Could be either a leak in the line or a blockage or perhaps there is just not much water available from the spring. The claimant indicated that the spring supplied water to the building and to three or four spigots located near the building. Rulon said that the spigots were used to supply water to RVs. There were also about 10 strands of sprinkler pipe lying near the building.

On April 29, 2009, Rulon and Kathy Jones, on behalf of Cedar Creek Grazing Assn., filed a Motion to File Late Notice of Claim for the above-captioned water rights. A hearing on the Motion to File Late Notice of Claim was held on July 21, 2009. No party appeared in opposition to the Motion and the Motion complied with all procedural requirements under SRBA Administrative Order 1.

At hearing on the Motion, the Court initially denied the claimants' Motion to File Late Notice of Claim, for failure to comply with a deadline set by Special Master Bilyeu in a December 18, 2008 Order of Final Deadline for Late Claims in Basin 27. However, upon reconsideration, the Court finds that the hearing on any Motions filed after the April 10, 2009 deadline but before May 1, 2009 would occur on the same day as the hearing on Motions filed before the deadline.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that the Motion to File a Late Notice of Claim for the above-captioned water rights is granted.

The original Notice of Claim, as well as any attached filing fees, and a copy of this Order will be forwarded to the Idaho Department of Water Resources for further action. The Idaho Department of Water Resources can administratively split the claim among the three claimants and report the claims in the forthcoming Late and Miscellaneous Claims Director's Report, which is issued on an annual basis. This modifies the provisions of SRBA Administrative Order 1 4d(2)(h).

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Dated July 22, 2009.

MOTION TO FILE A LATE NOTICE OF CLAIM

A Motion to File a Late Notice of Claim will require a hearing before the Presiding Judge.

☐ I did not file a Notice of claim to the use of water in the SRBA because:

☐ I filed a Notice of Claim and elected to defer judicial proceedings on my domestic or stock watering use. I desire to reinstate my Notice of Claim for domestic or stock watering use.

☐ I am providing legal and factual documentation for my claimed use of water. You must describe these documents and attach a readable copy. (You do not need to fill this out if you are reinstating a Notice of Claim for domestic or stock watering use, but you must attach a copy of your Notice of Claim.)

I have attached:

- ☒ A fully completed Notice of Claim (available from IDWR).
- ☐ A claim filing fee for a domestic and stock watering use. IDWR may charge this fee pursuant to I.C. § 42-1414. To determine this amount, contact IDWR at (800) 451-4129. I have enclosed a check payable to: State of Idaho Department of Water Resources in the amount of $ _____.
- ☐ A claim filing fee and a late claim fee for those claims other than a domestic or stock watering use for which a notice of claim was not filed. To determine this amount, contact IDWR at (800) 451-4129. I have enclosed a check payable to: State of Idaho Department of Water Resources in the amount of $ 114.

Follow these instructions regarding the hearing on this motion.
