AFFIDAVIT OF PERSIS THOMAS

STATE OF IDAHO)
 : ss.
COUNTY OF BANNOCK)

Persis Thomas, being first duly sworn upon his oath, deposes and says:

1. I am 85 years of age and am currently a resident of the Village of Arimo, Bannock County, Idaho. I was born in Arimo, Idaho, and have lived here my whole life.
2. I am the member of the Arimo Historical Society and am very familiar with the history of the Cohn Ranch (now known as the Arimo Ranch), where my now deceased husband, Con Thomas, and I have spent a great deal of time over the years. The Cohn Ranch is located not more than a couple of miles north of Arimo.
3. I personally knew Max D. Cohn, the son of Meyers Cohn who founded the Cohn Ranch. In July of 1955, Max provided Winnefred Henderson, a long time resident of Arimo who is now 97 years old, with a written history of his father's life. I received the written history from Winnefred. A true and correct copy of the written history is attached hereto as Exhibit "A."
4. From this history, discussions with Max Cohn and other information that I have in my possession, Meyers Cohn settled the Cohn Ranch (present day Arimo Ranch) in 1867 and began farming and raising livestock. At that same time, Meyers Cohn constructed Homestead Cabins. In 1917, another house was built, which still exists on the Ranch. The location of the Homestead Cabin Sites and the 1917 House are correctly shown on the map attached to the Affidavit of Christopher F. Robinson.
5. I have reviewed the following water right claims, together with the priority dates shown thereon: A29-04406, A29-04408, A29-04411, A29-04422, A29-04423, A29-04424, and A29-12055. The sources of water for these claims are a number of springs located upon the Cohn Ranch (present day Arimo Ranch). I can remember these same springs being diverted and applied to beneficial use for irrigation and stockwater as early as 1932.

6. Notably, the springs claimed above all originate directly upon the Cohn Ranch and are easily diverted, having required only simple diversion works consisting mainly of earthen ditches. It is my understanding that Meyers Cohn diverted these springs for beneficial use shortly after he began operating the Ranch in 1867.

7. At the time that Meyers Cohn began operating the Ranch it was common practice for a farmer or rancher to divert and use water from springs located on his property without filing a water rights claim. This practice was common due to the fact that no one other than the property owner himself would have had access to the spring or its water. Because no other person could entered upon the land and physically diverted the water from the springs, there was no need at that time to file a water rights claim.

8. It is well known that Meyers Cohn aggressively and actively developed water resources that were located miles from his ranch as early as 1880 and that he built mile upon mile of irrigation ditches to bring that water to his Ranch. In fact, he was the first to divert water from the upper Portneuf River, filing a Notice of Water User Claim in 1889..

9. Meyers Cohn would not have sought to develop more expensive and difficult water resources such as the Portneuf River without first developing the easier and more accessible water located directly upon his land. Thus, Meyers Cohn undoubtedly diverted and applied the water from the springs located on his property to beneficial use prior to developing any other water resource when he began operating the Ranch in 1867. This fact becomes even clearer when one considers how close the springs were to the Homestead Cabin sites on the Ranch. Therefore, a priority date for the above-mentioned water right claims of January 1, 1880, is in my belief very conservative.

DATED this 7th day of November, 2002.

HISTORY OF MEYERS COHN

Meyers Cohn came to Salt Lake from Germany in 1865. He was 21 years old.

Mrs. Sarah Gumpert Cohn being the oldest of a family of three sisters and one brother having talked of coming to America from early childhood, and when she reached the age of seventeen, finally persuaded her parents to consent to fulfill her wish and dream, even though a most difficult decision for her parents to make, as she was the oldest of the family, and in the course of a short period preparations were made for her to leave her native land, loved ones, playmates and friends in Knockle, Germany and sail for the promised land.

Only because her Aunt Betta Cohn was coming to America was she permitted to come along with her, and after many days upon the ocean they arrived in Providence, Rhode Island.

After staying in Providence for some three months she and her aunt decided to come West visiting in Salt Lake City for a few days and then on to Virginia City, Nevada. Mrs. Sarah Cohn remained in Virginia City for approximately two years, and by this time she had learned to speak the English language very well and returned to Salt Lake City where she then made her home with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Minnie Jacobs.

Mrs. Sarah Cohn was often spoken of and considered a very beautiful girl with a pleasing personality and made many friends and was invited to most of the young folks parties and socials.

It just so happened a Mr. Meyers Cohn, a young man living in a small town called Malad City, Idaho, went to Salt Lake City on business and pleasure, was fortunate in meeting Mrs. Cohn, and apparently fell in love with her at first sight because he continued to visit Salt Lake often after this first meeting, and in the course of a few months they became engaged. After Mr. Meyers Cohn had won the love and endorsement of this charming lady to become his life mate and companion, he returned to Malad to look after his general merchandising and farming activities, and provide living accommodations for he and his intended wife's future home.

While it is said by those who were well acquainted with Mr. Cohn he did not appear to let love and social activities interfere too much with his goal to become financially independent in paying his obligations and financial success, he was sure he had found the one girl with whom their future happiness and success rested, and taking no chances, set an early date for the wedding.

After the wedding date was set much preparation was made by relatives and friends to make sure the newly-weds Mr. and Mrs. Cohn would have a grand and glorious wedding long to be remembered by the Bride and Groom, relatives and friends.

When the date, time and hour (May 11, 1876) arrived for the ceremony, acting Rabbi I. Watters along with many relatives and friends were present in the home at the St James Hotel. The Bride and Groom came into the living room marching to the tune of soft music and in a few minutes they were tied together not only by the Rabbi, but by love and affection that only death could and did undo. Judging from the pictures taken of the Bride and Groom at this time, it must be true as often told, they were the most beautiful couple ever married in Salt Lake City. Mrs. Sarah Cohn was then 20 years old.

After a short honeymoon they returned to Malad City, Idaho, to make their future home, and as Mr. and Mrs. Cohn have often repeated many times, the grandest folks on earth.

After arriving in the little town of Malad, those wonderful hospitable Welch people made them feel welcome and happy and contented, and as they were not naturalized, Mr. Cohn having come to the United States from Germany while a boy of tender age, and in due time those good Malad citizens made Mr. and Mrs. Movers Cohn (in the old Court House on the hill) United States Citizens, which seemed to be one of the great events in their lives.

Mrs. Cohn was a very charitable and kind hearted person, and Mr. Cohn was civic minded and they entered into all activities both social and charitable and in a short time they were active in every thing that took place. Old timers who live in Malad have often said the people who live in and about Malad were fortunate in having such far-sighted and open minded people as Mr. and Mrs. Cohn join with them and help build the community.

During their residence in Malad City of some seventeen years they reared a family of four children; Ida, Emma, Max, and Jerome. They attended the little red school house on the hill and Sunday School in the same place.

During Mr. and Mrs. Cohn's residence in Malad and along with their store acquired considerable farming land and engaged to some extent in the cattle business, and during the fall months when it was necessary to bring the cattle from the range into the feeding grounds for winter, Mr. Cohn would ride the mountains and valleys to gather his cattle which would wander some twenty or thirty miles, and in order to find all his stock it would be necessary for him to ride over a range of mountains some thirty miles distant into a valley still known as Marsh Valley, having visited this fine grazing land many times it seemed to appeal to him as a fine place to raise and produce cattle, after some thought and consideration he secured a fine place to raise and produce cattle, after some thought and consideration he secured a small land holdings, which was adjacent to the Fort Hall Indian Reservation (year, 1867) and operated this cattle ranch from his home in Malad.

As time went on and his cattle operations became more extensive it required more of his time and attention, and as there was a high range of mountains between Malad and Marsh Valley and the mode of transportation at this time was only by horse-back or team and the severe winter's storms and snow, he found it necessary to give up his residence in Malad and move his family to his ranch in Marsh Valley then known as Oneida Post Office (year, 1885).

After giving up their home in Malad and moving to Marsh Valley, the country was very thinly settled, in fact the only families living within three or four miles of the Cohn ranch were the Thomas Jenkins family, John Evans family, and possibly one or two more.

The country was open to homestead settlement and the Cohns filed upon homestead land also desert claim land. As it was necessary to irrigate most of these lands, the first waters taken from the Portneuf river for irrigation was diverted by canal with these early settlers.

As time went on the Cohns developed and added more land to their holdings, and even the prices were low for their stock and produce and money was very difficult to secure, they had faith in the land, government, and future, and by hard work, extreme economy, paid their obligations and educated their family even though the children received their early education in a one room log cabin two miles from home.

In due time the land being of good fertile soil found new families moving in and joining the old settlers, and the valley began to settle. Among those first few families coming to the valley were the Woodlands and Hendersons. They were thrifty, honest, hardworking, and capable and their being part of the community with interest, much progress was made in improvements, civic conditions, and social enjoyment.

Mr. Cohn was a man who took much interest in public affairs, and the neighbors and public in general respected his good judgment, broad vision and honesty, and at various times during his life he served the state and county. He was County Commissioner, Justice of the Peace, School Trustee, President of Canal Co, and many other minor appointments.

After some 65 years continuous residence at (Oneida) Arimo, Mr. Cohn passed (1927) away at the age of 83 years, and was laid away in the family plot in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Cohn's two sons, Max and Jerome who after finishing their education became associated with their father and were active partners in the business, after their father passed away continued on with the business, during the year 1930 Jerome passed away and Max continued the business with the association of his mother and sister Emma.

During the year 1945 the Cohns sold their entire cattle and ranch holdings, even though it was rather difficult to give up the old homestead which had sheltered, fed, and given so much pleasure and satisfaction in having been successful, and too, the ties of old friends, neighbors, and associates down through the many past years was a tie not easily broken or forgotten.

SCANNED
MAR 30 2016

The Cohn's on leaving Arimo moved to Pocatello where they felt it advisable to be close to their many business interests, and also in touch with their many friends, and after living in Pocatello for two years, Mother Cohn expressed the desire to see more of her grandchildren, daughters and other relatives who are living in Salt Lake City and be more closely associated with them, so she and her daughter Bama moved to Salt Lake City where they purchased a comfortable home.

Mrs. Sarah Cohn has now passed her 99th birthday and able to take her meals on the dining room table with the rest of the family, and enjoying reasonable good health, and says she is going to return to Idaho this next summer and have a good visit with her many long time friends.

It was because of his relationship to Fred Auerbach that Meyers Cohn came to Salt Lake. Fred Auerbach had owned a store in San Francisco which had been destroyed by fire. He had loaded the remains of his merchandise in a wagon and had come to Salt Lake. He spent his first night on the outskirts of Salt Lake with a Mormon family. They took him the following morning to Brigham Young who showed him a site upon which to build his store. The site of the present day Auerbachs. This was reported to me by Emma Cohn.
