Historically we have started irrigating early in the spring. In the fall we have irrigated up to the last of November. This has enabled us to plant grain crops early so they are ahead of the weeds, limiting our use of herbicides and providing better yields and quality.

Watering in the fall provides moisture for plant roots preventing winter kill. Plants watered in the fall get an earlier start in the spring.

Re: Recommendation for 75-2123

Dear Mrs. Bills:

Enclosed is a modified recommendation and an aerial photo with the place of use outlined. An additional 24.3 acres has been recommended. This additional acreage was found to be the only land that could possibly be historically irrigated.

The recommendation for 75-10630 has been modified to show stockwater from 1-1 to 12-31. The irrigation portion of this right from 3-1 to 12-15 was not recommended at this time because more research is needed. You will more than likely have to file an objection with the court if you wish to irrigate outside the standard season of use for this area. You may also file an objection on 75-2123 if you can provide evidence that more acreage has been historically irrigated.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Gregory J. Taylor

ALL

2. Describe the changes you wish to make in the proposed recommendation:

Season of use should be 3-1 to 12-15
Add stockwater year round

3. Give a brief explanation as to why you disagree with these portions:

Historically water is put on land after irrigation season.
This is often the only water we get after high water in spring and allows groundwater to build to be able to have a crop.
