87-11531, 11533 and 11534 Phone Call Summary 5/28/2020

On May 28th, I called Tim Clyde in regards to his Notice of Claims. Below is a summary of our discussion and further actions that will be done.

87-11531: The initial questions I had was regarding the irrigation occurring on the property, and whether it broke the mandatory permitting requirements. He said that the irrigation is for typical lawn and garden irrigation of less than .5 acres. He confirmed that he is not irrigating any of the field(s) on the claimed parcel RP39N05W304500. His use does not break the mandatory permitting requirements. I told him that his domestic use on the claim includes the .5 acres of lawn irrigation, and that he does not need to claim irrigation as an additional purpose. He understood. Because of this, I told him I would recommend the claim without irrigation because his use is covered through the domestic use. He understood and was okay with that. Lastly, the well drilled in 2006 is not his well, it is his son's. No further action required by claimant.

87-11533, 87-11534: The initial questions I had on 11533 was regarding the irrigation and domestic use claimed on parcel RPM00000192850. The initial questions I had for 11534 was regarding the claimed date of priority and the year built date of the house on parcel RP39N05W193400.

According to the claimant, the well that is supplying 11534 on parcel RP39N05W193400 is actually located on the parcel claimed on 11533. This well/well house on parcel RPM00000192850, which he owns, can be seen through aerial imagery. He also has an easement between the home and the well. There is no use occurring on parcel RPM00000192850 like it was claimed, and the irrigation is actually occurring at the home on parcel RP39N05W193400 and is less than .5 acres, which is covered by the domestic definition. The well claimed for 11534 was drilled in 2017, like claimed, but it is not being used. This well was drilled for future use if needed. The well supplying the home is on parcel RPM00000192850. See map.

I advised the claimant to amend claim 87-11534 to correct the priority date (from 2017 to 1998 when the home was built) and to correct the POD location to parcel RPM00000192850, as well as marking the POD location on a map. I would recommend claim 11533 as disallowed because the use is covered in claim 11534. The claimant understood and was okay with that.
