FROM: Allen Merritt

DATE: November 1, 1994

TO: File #4420 in the name of Bloomfield

SUBJECT: Analysis

The transfer proposes to dry up 4.2 acres of land near the Gimlet Rd & Hwy 75 intersection. These lands are reported to be historically irrigated from waters diverted from the Big Wood River through the Comstock Ditch (A37-00048C & A37-008330) and water from Clear Creek (A37-12077) which is intercepted by the Comstock Ditch. The transfer proposes to develop irrigation of 4.2 acres from a well approx. 18 miles down gradient in the Big Wood drainage. The transfer indicates that if approved the water right from Clear Creek (A37-12077) will be abandoned.

Field review by Jim Stanton in May of 1994 finds that the present use of the water consists of irrigation of 0.5 acres. A review of the 9/14/1988 NAPP photo X24 SW is consistent with Jim's findings. Based on these findings it would appear that if more than 0.5 acres is allowed to be developed under the transfer it would expand the historical use of the water and impact existing rights.

Comments from Lee Peterson (watermaster of District 37) indicate that transferring the right downstream should stand a percentage loss to the river for conveyance. Since he did not specify the percentage I phoned him this day. Lee indicated that he would estimate that 20% of the water would be lost in conveyance down the river 18 miles. He indicated that since the transfer proposes to move the water from the Big Wood River to groundwater he suggested that if he had to regulate the priority he would suggest that the irrigation portion of the use of the well be plumbed such that it can be valved or controlled separately from any domestic use.

Water Information Bulletin No. 28 documents the interconnection between the Big Wood River and the groundwater at the proposed place of use.

Based on the forgoing it is recommended that the transfer be approved subject to the following limitations:

- 1) The rights be limited to 0.5 acres irrigation exclusive of 0.5 acres which may be developed under a single domestic exemption. (If a single household is developed from the same well then a total of 1.0 acres can be irrigated.)
- 2) The total authorized diversion from the well for irrigation of the 0.5 acres shall be limited to 0.015 cfs if the land is sprinkler irrigated or to the rate that is determined to be reasonable for flood irrigation at the time of the SRBA review.
- 3) The rights in combination be limited to the rate under item 2) plus 0.08 cfs (20% of 0.40 cfs). The 0.08 shall be identified with conveyance loss in the river system. The remainder of the rights if any shall be abandoned.

- 4) Any right under claim A37-12077 is abandoned.
- 5) The irrigation use of the well is under control and regulation of the Watermaster of District 37.
- 6) Adequate mean of control shall be provided at the well head to allow regulation of the irrigation use of 1/2 acre. (The land irrigated up to 1/2 is exempt under the domestic exemption as long as the total domestic use is less than 13,000 gallons/day)
