Hi Luke,

It is direct from the well to the sprinklers.

Afternoon Jeremi,

Thank you for the response. The information will be added to the file and assist me in finalizing the report for licensing.

To clarify, you state the well is the primary source for irrigation. Does the irrigation system pump direct from well to sprinklers, or does the well pump to the pond, which then pumps out of pond to irrigate? OR, is irrigation completed using both set ups (direct flow-well, from pond storage-transfer pump)?

If there are two irrigation systems, I need to figure out how to identify the acreage irrigated directly from the well, and what acreage is irrigated from the pond pump.

Thank you,
