Evan,

It looks like the transfer was protested by the Hiawatha Canal Water Users' Association of Lateral or Laterals and the Idaho Water Resource Board. As of this date, I am unaware of any direct contact between any of the parties and IDWR relating to this matter. I recall visiting with Scott King of SPF last fall about some conditions on some water rights in the Hiawatha Canal, however I don't remember exactly what Scott was working on and why he was inquiring about the rights. It may have been for something relating to this matter.

Hopefully this helps,

Corey

Corey: I represent Eccles Flying Hat Ranch, LLC, the entity that filed the above referenced transfer for 1.4 CFS from the Hiawatha Canal in Blaine County, which application was protested by the Hiawatha Canal Water Users' Association of Lateral or Laterals through its attorney, Fritz Hammerle. The protest was filed on Sept 12, 2019, and accompanying it was a letter addressed to you from Mr. Hammerle indicating his client was retaining SPF Engineering to review materials submitted in support of the application by Brockway Engineering, but we have heard nothing further from either the protestants or the IDWR. Can you provide me with a status report on where things stand? Thanks. Evan Robertson
