Hi Michele,

I am going to direct you to Kevin Holland. Kevin took over from Steve Silkworth as the Manager of Wholesale Marketing and Contracts. He would be the best person to ask that question to. I do show the contract expires 06/30/2022.

Thank you,

Cheryl,

At the risk of wearing out my welcome, I hope you can answer another question related to this project. I have a sliver of information from the Idaho Public Utilities Commission that the energy sales agreement for the Ford Power Project had a 35-year term and was signed in July 1985. It may have been an agreement between Idaho Hydro Inc. or Ford Hydro Limited Partnership and Washington Water Power. By my calculation, it would be expiring in a couple weeks. Have negotiations started for a replacement agreement?
Thank you
Michele

Hi Michele,
I pulled the records we have, and the earliest I could find the Jim Ford Creek reported was 1988 in the annual FERC Form 1's that Avista files. At the time of the filings, we were known as Washington Water Power. Please see attached for the other three years that you requested.

Do you have an idea of where to get this data requested?

Bill Johnson,
I was given your email address and phone number through the effort of Adam Frederick from IDWR's northern region office. I really appreciate your willingness to assist me.

The data I need is not likely to be available electronically so this request may mean you'll have to go down into the basement and search through the paper archives. Specifically I need data from 1986-1990 that is the power production from a small hydropower project located on Jim Ford Creek (FERC #7986)

This project has been operating for decades and awaiting an inspection from IDWR to confirm the use. It is long overdue for a water right license and I'd like to see how far I can get toward that goal this year. I will be arranging an inspection for sometime in the fall when the water levels are up again.

Meanwhile, the conditions of the permit didn't require any record keeping for reporting. So one of the challenges IDWR faces with these old hydropower projects is confirming that they actually generated power during the time that the permit was in effect.

If you have generation data, in any form, from that vintage I would welcome it. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Michele Edl

6. The partners have not agreed to make additonal contributions at any particular time or on the happening of any particular event.

7. In the event that a limited partner assigns all, but not less than all, of such limited partner's interest in the limited partnership to a corporate affiliate of that limited partner, such assignee shall have the right to become a substituted limited partner upon acceptance of the terms and provisions of the Agreement of Limited Partnership dated December 21, 1983 between the original partners named in Paragraph 4. Any other assignee to a limited partner's interest in the limited partnership may become a substituted or additional limited partner only at the discretion, reasonably exercised of the general partners.

8. A general partner may not withdraw or retire from the limited partnership or sell or assign his interest in the limited partnership without the unanimous consent of the other general partners. In such event, the remaining general partners shall pay the retiring or withdrawing general partner, in liquidation of the partnership interest of such general partner, an amount based on the fair market value of the limited partnership's facilities. In determining such fair market value, all debts and liabilities of the limited partnership shall be deducted. 10. At no time during the continuance of the limited partnership shall the capital contribution of a limited partner be returned. The capital contribution of a general partner may be returned at such time as the general partners shall unanimously agree.

11. The limited partnership is to be dissolved and liquidated upon the expiration of its term on December 31, 2034, unless any of the following events occur prior to that time; (a) an election to dissolve the limited partnership is made in writing by all partners, (b) the sale of all or substantially all of the limited partnership's interest in the facility for the production of hydroelectric power, (c) the inability of the limited partnership to continue to conduct its business by reason of the permanent termination or revocation of any license, approval or other governmental authorization, (d) the failure to achieve commercial operation of the proposed facility by December 21, 1990, or (e) otherwise by operation of law.

12. The remaining general partners shall continue the business regardless of the withdrawal of another general partner.

6. The partners have not agreed to make additional contributions at any particular time or on the happening of any particular event.
7. In the event that a limited partner assigns all, but not less than all, of such limited partner's interest in the Partnership to a corporate affiliate of that limited partner, such assignee shall have the right to become a substituted limited partner upon acceptance of the terms and conditions of the Partnership Agreement. Any other assignee to a limited partner's interest in the Partnership may become a substituted or additional limited partner only at the discretion, reasonably exercised, of the general partner.
8. The general partner may not withdraw or retire from the Partnership until April 1, 1993. In the event of the withdrawal or retirement of the general partner on or after April 1, 1993, the limited partner may elect to reconstitute the Partnership and continue the business of the Partnership for the balance of its term. If the limited partner so elects, the withdrawing or retiring general partner is entitled to receive in liquidation of its partnership interest in the Partnership an amount equal to the liquidation value thereof. 12. Because the Partnership only has one general partner, no other general partners have the right to continue the business of the Partnership upon the happening of an event of withdrawal with respect to such general partner."
