A hand-drawn sketch of a river and road intersection. The river is represented by two wavy lines forming a channel. On the right side of the river, the text 'MIDDLE FORK PAYETTE RIVER' is written vertically. At the bottom of the sketch, a horizontal line represents a road, labeled 'SMITH CREEK ROAD' on the left and 'BRIDGE' on the right. A point on the riverbank is marked with an 'X' and labeled 'POINT OF DIVERSION' with an arrow pointing to it. Below this point, a small circle is labeled 'POWER POLE'. A vertical line segment with arrows at both ends is labeled '30 FEET'.
