MEMORANDUM

Date: 3/20/2020
To: WR No. 95-17939
From: Emily Skoro
Re: Pre-Advertisement Application Review

Applicant

The applicant is Lea J. Sammons who has signature authority. The application was received on February 3, 2020. The place of use ownership was verified through an email to the applicant. The point of diversion was not accurately located on the initial application map. The point of diversion location was verified by email on March 23, 2020.

Source, Diversion System, and Water Use

The proposed POD is located in the Kelso Lake. The proposed 5 HP pump will be situated at the domestic home and associated pipe located in the lake. The application for permit requests a domestic beneficial use to supply one household. The time required for completion of works and application of water to the domestic beneficial use is five year.

Dear Ms. Sammons,

Hi! My name is Emily Skoro and I work for the Idaho Department of Water Resources. I am currently reviewing your application for permit and had a few questions.

Section 11.b of the application form was not completed. Do you own the property at the place of use? If not, please provide documentation showing you have legal access to the property and authorization to develop the proposed water use there.

Regarding your point of diversion, IDWR policy is to place the point of diversion at the location water is removed from the source. Please describe the diversion system in more detail and indicate on the attached map where water is diverted from the Lake. If lake water enters a pipe at a location other than the NWSW than you will need to amend your application.

Thanks
