Re: Comment/Analysis

The Beneficial Use was changed from Fish Propagation to Recreation per a discussion by section leadership. It was determined that this would be a better description of the right as it is currently used. The original use of Fish Propagation was considered non-consumptive, and the new use of Recreation is also considered non-consumptive because its purpose is to provide flow-through water for the pond, where the same amount of water will flow out of the pond as is flowing in. Because both uses are non-consumptive, a change of nature of use evaluation is not required
