ADDITIONAL CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE

1. The water rights referenced above will be rented from the bank at the current rental rate.
2. There is no rental payment to the lessor of the water right if the right or a part thereof is not rented from the bank.
3. While a right is in the bank, the lessor may not use the right without approval of the Department even if the right is not rented from the bank. Any violation of the terms of this lease may result in enforcement procedures pursuant to Idaho Code § 42-351 for illegal diversion and use of water and may include civil penalties pursuant to Idaho Code § 42-1701B.
4. A right accepted into the bank stays in the bank until the Board releases it, or the lease term expires. A right may be released from the bank upon request, provided the Board approves the release. Unless approved by the Department, leased rights may not be immediately available for release.
5. While a water right is in the bank, forfeiture provisions are stayed pursuant to Idaho Code § 42-223(5).
6. Rental of water under this right is subject to the limitations and conditions of approval of the water right.
7. Failure of the right holder to comply with the conditions of acceptance is cause for the Director to rescind acceptance of the lease.

8. Acceptance of a right into the bank does not, in itself, confirm the validity of the right or any elements of the water right, or improve the status of the right including the notion of resumption of use. It does not preclude the opportunity for review of the validity of this water right in any other Department application process.
9. In accordance with Idaho Code § 42-248 and § 42-1409(6), all owners of water rights are required to notify the Department of any changes in mailing address or change in ownership of all or part of a water right. Notice must be provided within 120 days of the change.
10. If a water right leased into the Water Supply Bank is sold or conveyed during the lease term, and if the leased right was rented, the rental proceeds will be disbursed in the following manner regardless of any arrangements between the buyer(s) and seller(s) to the contrary:
 - a. Rental payments will go to the lessor(s) of record at the beginning of the rental season, even if the Department processes a Notice of Change in Water Right Ownership during the rental season.
 - b. New lessor(s) of record will receive payment for any subsequent rental seasons.
11. The water right(s) is leased to the bank subject to all prior water rights and shall be administered in accordance with Idaho law and applicable rules of the Department of Water Resources.
12. The following rights are diverted through the points of diversion described above: 71-00014, 71-00015, 71-00017, 71-00018, 71-10960, 71-10961, 71-10962, 71-10963, 71-10964, 71-10965, 71-10967, 71-10968, 71-10975, 71-10976, 71-10977 and 71-10978.
13. The use of the rights listed below is limited to the irrigation of a combined total of 3.2 acres in a single irrigation season. Combined rights: 71-10975, 71-10976, 71-10977 and 71-10978.

Q 4.F. Identify annual volumes and/or rates of water diverted in the last 5 years to accomplish the beneficial use authorized by this water right.

Landsat imagery from September 5, 2014 indicates that within the Goat Falls Ranch property boundary 298 acres (and arguably more) were irrigated within the 399 acre property boundary of the ranch (see Map 1). However, while some of that active irrigation did not take place within the POU (see Map 2), the full acreage under the water rights for Goat Falls Ranch were put to beneficial use as is shown in the September 5, 2014 Landsat 8 image.

In February 2017, Goat Falls Ranch sold 361 acres and the appurtenant water rights to Western Rivers Conservancy (see Map 3). In August 2017, an additional 3.2 acres of irrigation were conveyed to WRC via a Quit Claim Deed (see Map 4) and a change of ownership was submitted resulting in four new water right nos. that are described in this application.

The language from the IDWR memo dated July 10, 2008 provides guidance on whether or not a water right holder risks the forfeiture of their water right when they use it in a manner other than was authorized by their license or decree. In this case Goat Falls Ranch irrigated acreage outside their decreed POU. That memo concludes that "Absent circumstances such as those in McCray, it is likely that an Idaho court would not find a water right forfeited because of an unauthorized change in point of diversion, place of use, or period of use."

The full memo is attached to the lease application.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Phil Rassier
FROM: Ann Yribar
DATE: July 10, 2008
RE: Forfeiture and Unauthorized Use of a Water Right.

Question Presented:

Whether a water right holder risks the forfeiture of their water right when they use it in a manner other than was authorized by their license or decree.

Discussion:

In Idaho, it is unlawful for a water right holder to use their water in any way that does not conform with their valid water right, and the director of the department of water resources is authorized to file an action seeking injunctive relief should the person fail to cease the unauthorized use. Idaho Code § 42-351. Any person may, however, make a lawful change to the point of diversion, period of use, or nature of use of their water right by first filing an application with the director of the department of water resources and by showing that no other water right holders will be injured by the change. Idaho Code § 42-108, § 42-222. Accomplished transfers, changes to an element of a water right that occurred prior to November 19, 1987, can be adjudicated and decreed as used even though they failed to comply the requirements of §§ 42-108 and 42-222.

Change in a point of diversion, period of use, or nature of use of a water right does not result in forfeiture. In Joyce v. Rubin, a water user moved his point of diversion 1800 feet upstream from where it was originally located. The court found that the water users had the right to move the point of diversion as long as the change did not injure any other water users. 23 Idaho 296, 130 P. 793, 797 (1913). The court stated that even: "if a change is made without proper application to the state engineer . . . that would not forfeit the right to the use of such water. Id. See also Harris v. Chapman, 51 Idaho 283, 5 P.2d 733 (1931).

In a more recent 2002 order, SRBA Presiding Judge Burdick held that a water right was not forfeited simply because the point of diversion had been changed without authorization by the department of water resources. In Re SRBA, No. 39576, Wood v. Troutt, Subcase No. 65-05663B, (SRBA Dist. Ct., Idaho, May 9, 2002). In that case, Troutt had been forced to move his point of diversion when Wood erected an electric fence which blocked access to the original point of diversion. Id. at 26. Wood argued, based on McCray v. Rosenkrance, that this change in the point of diversion began a consecutive five-year period of non-use that resulted in forfeiture. 135 Idaho 509, 20 P.3d 693 (2001). (Water right was forfeited through five years of non-use. Place of use was then changed to land not appurtenant to water right. Court held this use insufficient to show resumption of use; forfeiture not defeated). The SRBA court rejected this argument stating McCray cannot be said to stand for the proposition that "the automatic sanction for failing to receive proper authorization prior to changing any element of a water right is forfeiture upon accrual of the five-year period of such unauthorized use." Wood v. Trout at 34. There are some changes in use that may result in forfeiture, as in McCray where the water right was not used for five years and the resumption of use defense failed because use was resumed on land to which the right was not appurtenant. Here, however, Troutt was using the water on the appurtenant land, his place of diversion was downstream from the decreed place of diversion, the pump was in the same ditch, and there was no evidence that injury to other water rights would occur because of the move. Id. at 35. The court noted its decision did not insulate Troutt from any sanctions that the department of water resources might wish to impose for the unauthorized change, but simply meant Troutt had not forfeited his water right.

Absent circumstances such as those in McCray, it is likely that an Idaho court would not find a water right forfeited because of an unauthorized change in point of diversion, place of use, or period of use. The sanctions afforded to the department of water resources in Idaho Code § 42-351 include providing notice of the violation in use of a water right and, if necessary, action for injunctive relief. If the legislature had contemplated forfeiture as a sanction for violation of §§ 42-222 or 42-108, it is likely it would have been stated more explicitly in the sanctions set out in § 42-351.
