RE: Point of Diversion Location for Water Right 63-10192A

The applicant for transfer 81631 contacted the office yesterday to inform us that the well at the point of diversion (POD) that was identified in the application and approved transfer layout map for 63-10192A had been abandoned.

A review of the file found that the Certificate of Service was mailed on August 14, 2017. This information was sent to the department within the 14 day petition period. However, the requested correction of the location of the well does not change the legal description of the POD nor move the POD to a different tax parcel. This correction does not require a change to the transfer order. Therefore, the spatial data point for this well has been changed to reflect the correct location of the POD. I have generated a new layout map to reflect this change (see attached).

Mr. Davidson,

Since this correction does not change the legal description on the water right, the transfer order does not have to be amended. I have updated the location of the point of diversion in our system. I will place this e-mail and a memo to the file with the attached layout for your water right 63-10192A.

Sincerely,
Clay Webster

Pam, just as a reminder, the approved Water Right Transfer listed a point of diversion that has been abandoned and filed with IDWR, my other email shows the correct location of the only functioning well on the property.

Pam,

I've put together a map attaching an ESRI shapefile showing the only active well on the property.

Both the irrigation and domestic supply come from this one well.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Also copied on this email is the local facility manager, who is very familiar with this site.

Regards,
