Subject: 98-2136 - water right ownership change correspondence

Dear Jean Hersley,

Thank you for speaking with me this morning about the correspondence received in your office concerning a water right in Boundary County: 98-2136. IDWR records still show ownership of this WR in the name of W.J. Nixon, who is my husband's deceased father. But, in 1999, the farmland benefited by the irrigation water stored upstream was deeded to W.J. Nixon's three sons: Robert J. Nixon, R. Lee Nixon, and William W. Nixon. William W. Nixon died in 2014; his widow, Judy Nixon, is personal representative of his estate.

My husband, Robert J. Nixon, recently learned that R. Lee Nixon and Judy Nixon have submitted paperwork attempting to transfer ownership of WR 98-2136 to Nixon, Inc. This mistaken action would not have been consented-to by my husband, because the Place of Use of the water right is not owned by Nixon, Inc.; it is still owned jointly by brothers Robert J. and R. Lee Nixon, and the Estate of their deceased brother W.W. Nixon. To the best of our knowledge, Nixon, Inc. has no present ownership interest in WR 98-2136.

Sincerely,

Shirley Nixon (wife of Robert J. Nixon)
