Pam,

I assume Chester's water rights will be passed on to whomever is designated as the heir to his property in his will. For now, your original idea of submitting a Water Supply Bank rental probably the most feasible option. I would recommend submitting it as soon as possible; we will begin processing those applications in the order which we receive them, starting in mid-September (approx 2 weeks), for the 2016 irrigation season.

Thanks,

Hi Ashley...Wanted to touch base with you to let you know the latest development. Chet actually passed away Monday...@ 95 years old. :(Brian McMahan and I were getting close with the conservator understanding the situation and reasoning and I offered to buy the rights vs asking for a gift. That was last week...then with Chet's death...all is on hold for maybe even 2 months or more until they can settle the estate. :(Oh well..We are not stopping but do have to wait. Any rules that may apply in those rights being given to my property in this event? (Just wishful thinking) Anyway..I may have to go ahead and apply for renting as originally started if this "drags out" due to legal procedures. In your opinion...should I do that asap? or wait a month or so? If I do go ahead and get rental ok...what if the rights in "limbo" are finally able to be in my name. Do I cancel rental? Your advice is appreciated.

I am leaving school now so will not be back to computer until tomorrow...so no rush. :) Thanks Ashley you are so good to work with.....Pam

Hello Pam,

Sometimes applicants have an attorney complete the form and submit it for them. The "representative signature" is for your attorney to sign, if you would like.

Thanks,

Ashley

Hi Ashley...Pam again with a question in regards to the application. The last page where it calls for my signature also calls for a "representative signature" I am assuming that it is the person who processes my application? Right ? I didn't want to put this in the mail without everything in order so thought I would ask. I am meeting with the Mtn. Home Irrigation District supervisor after school today to finalize the authorization for point of diversion. .Then it should be ready to mail. THANKS SO MUCH for your help. Pam
