1. Combining of all rights causes confusion as to where and what amounts of water are applied.
2. The amount to be diverted and the regulation of these amounts in accordance with decrees are some-what of question as to how the watermaster will control and administer the decrees properly.
3. All diversion must be totally controlled by the watermaster on a daily basis or whatever may be deemed necessary for proper regulation.
4. All combined decrees must be administered according to the original decrees both in amount and priority date, note as combined date and amount.
5. Diversion structures must be approved by I.D.W.R.
