David –

I misspoke during our conversation about amending the application and the priority date. You can drop a point of diversion during the application process and the priority date will not be advanced. [It is when an application is changed to add uses, quantity, acres that the date is advanced].

This means that, in lieu of coming into the office to amend your application, you can fill out a new form and submit it to me with your original signature and you will retain the priority date of your original application.

Hi Vicky,

I can drop the southern POD from the application and just use the northern POD for permit No. 63-33960.

Let me know if I need to provide anything else.

Thanks,

David

Re Permit To Appropriate Water No. 63-33960

Dear HIGHLAND LIVESTOCK AND LAND COMPANY:

The Application for Permit that you filed on June 10, 2014, has been assigned to me for processing. The application proposes 1.80 cfs to irrigate 102 acres from ground water. Although the application states one point of diversion will be used, the map includes two possible well locations to allow for some flexibility depending on site conditions. Additional information required before processing can continue.

Idaho law establishes the criteria by which IDWR evaluates an application. Briefly, those criteria are:

- Information relative to the effect on existing water rights;
- Information relative to sufficiency of water supply;
- Information relative to good faith, delay, or speculative purposes of the applicant;
- Information Relative to Financial Resources; and,
- Information Relative to Conflict with the Local Public Interest.

The possible well site located in the SENW, Section 6, the southernmost of the two proposed wellsites, is less than 0.20 miles from two wells and within 0.50 miles of another four wells. Due to the proximity of your proposed well to other wells, IDWR must have information regarding the possible effect on the wells within 0.50 miles, and how you intend to prevent injury to existing water users. In the alternative, you can amend your application and remove this southernmost proposed point of diversion from your application.

Please submit the requested information so that IDWR can continue to process the application. Alternately, you may seek additional time up to six months to provide the information. The requested information or a request for more time to obtain the information must be received in writing by December 7, 2014. Failure to submit the information may result in the application being voided. Fees are not refunded for voided applications. I have enclosed a list of consultants in the event you wish to retain a consultant to assist you. You may call me at 208.334.2190 if you have questions about this matter. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Vicky Music
Sr. Water Resource Agent
