While it is true that water levels have dropped since the industrial dairies have been built in this area, the quality of life would be greatly compromised to the point where there would not be enough water to sustain basic life. Homes would not be marketable to the point where no one would want to purchase them and water tables have already been damaged by industrial dairies using too much water.

We do support agriculture as we ourselves are cattle producers, but large industrial dairies have not been in the past great caretakers of the land and water that is shared and enjoyed by so many. They have been fought against in the past and have no concern for the quality of life of their surrounding neighbors.

This transfer does not serve the best interest to any property owners who are affected, and according to the qualifications of a transfer, does not meet the requirements for an approval. Therefore we request that the proposed water transfer be denied.
