67-593 is the only right decreed out of Landson Ditch; and despite my best efforts, I cannot determine where Landson Ditch is or was. Neither the Queens nor Gilbert Ball, the man who seems to know everything about irrigation along Mann Creek, have heard of this ditch. Perhaps the court clerk transcribed the name "Manns Creek Ditch" incorrectly, and wound up with "Landson Ditch." Beyond that, this right was decreed to exactly the same land as 67-524 (45 irrigated acres), and both rights cannot fit in the described tracts without overlapping. Because of this, I have concluded that 67-593 (50 irrigated acres) was meant to represent only an additional 5 acres beyond 67-524, and a permissible place of use (of sorts) for these two rights, rather than an entirely separate right of 50 acres.
