RE: Proposed Transfer

Dear Mr. Isham:

Jeff suggested that I send this draft transfer to you. Earlier this year, I met with you and your son Mike and Kelly Amy to discuss how the ownership of two of the Leo Amy rights should be split. Isham Farms and Kelly Amy decided to sign a 2013 Agreement clarifying how the water rights will be split. With the Amy/Isham ownership questions resolved, you can now move forward with the water right transfer needed to address my January 2012 letter about unauthorized acres.

Enclosed is a draft transfer application proposing to rearrange the ten water rights used on the south farm into a single, combined irrigation place of use. The points of diversion for the water rights will not be changed. Using the acres associated with Isham Farms in the Amy/Isham Agreement, and the acres listed on the other Isham Farms water rights, I calculate 959 irrigated acres available to Isham Farms under its ten water rights. The orange outline on the map included with the transfer application is 959 acres exactly. According to Mike, the orange outline covers all of the acres currently being irrigated on the property.

Please review the draft transfer application and the map. If the application is acceptable and represents the changes you would like to make, sign page 2 of the application and return the signature page with a $655 filing fee. $580 is for the transfer application (calculated based on the total number of acres being moved). $75 is to update the ownership on three water rights: 33-7006B and 33-7057E (still in the name of Orville Nicholson) and 33-91E (still in the name of Leo Amy). Feel free to call if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

James Cefalo
