RE: Water Right No. 13-4089
For the files

I have acquired this water right in 2006.

In 2006 - 2008 it was used for flood irrigation on 24 acres to grow grass hay.

In 2008 - 2011 it was used in an irrigation system to water orchards, a berry patch, and a garden.

In 2012 it will be used to irrigate two orchards, two berry patches, and a one acre garden.

The irrigation system dependent upon this water right is being expanded each year.

In these six years of use, the flow at the point of diversion has neither been enhanced or depleted by upstream diversions or use.

During the development of an orchard an old structure (house or outbuilding) was uncovered that had a pipeline (waterline) extending back to near the point of diversion. According to verbal reports from the Baird family this structure predated their use of the property. The construction materials in the structure indicate 1920's or 1930 construction.
