RE: Ownership Changes (11-931, 11-933, 11-934, 11-936, 11-937, 11-938, 11-7488)

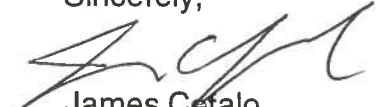

Dear Mr. Romrell:

In 2010, you filed a Notice of Change in Water Right Ownership for seven Bear River water rights (listed above) delivered through the Nuffer Ditch. The 1924 Decree describing six of these rights is vague as to the location of the acres irrigated under the rights. For example, water right 11-931 describes 200 irrigated acres within a 400-acre place of use. Today, there are multiple property owners within the 400-acre place of use. The historic deeds do not mention how the water rights are to be divided. For this reason, the Department could not (and cannot) process your ownership change. The ownership change has simply been held for the last two years.

As you are aware, in April 2011, I met with the water users from the Nuffer Ditch, hoping to resolve some of the ownership questions on the ditch. I proposed that the property owners simply execute a brand new water rights agreement, setting forth how the various rights in the Nuffer Ditch should be split up. The proposal seemed to be favorably received. However, no further action was taken by the water users on the idea. Another alternative would be to have a civil court address the ownership issues.

The fact that we cannot update the water right records at this time does not mean you do not own the water rights. You may very well own all or a portion of these water rights. However, given the documents available to the Department, it is not possible to determine what portion of the rights you own. It is not proper for the Department to continue to hold your filing fee for ownership changes that cannot be completed at this time. Therefore, I have requested a refund of your original filing fees ($475 – Receipt C089972). A check from the state of Idaho should arrive in two weeks. Please contact me if you have any questions about these water rights.

Sincerely,

James Cefalo
