Paul Shupe,

The Trout Creek Culinary Water Company will allow you a temporary and conditional domestic water hookup. The conditions are as follows:

1. Dee Farnsworth must agree, in writing, to let you use his hook up. The company will continue to bill Mr.Farnworth as the legal owner. You must agree to allow the company to discontinue this service upon Mr. Farnsworth's request.
2. You must also procure an easement to cross the property of Mr. John Hall.
3. You must demonstrate to the board of directors and/or our compliance officer Mike Johnson that the well has been completely and permanently separated from the home's plumbing before our system is attached to the residence.
4. You will have to cover all the costs for digging the water line and tapping into our line including an approved distribution value and labor to install it. The ownership of the value will be subsequently and permanently turned over to the company.
5. The distribution value instillation and the main line connection to the home must be inspected and approved by the board and/or Mr. Johnson before they are buried.
6. You must accept and conform to all the terms of the company's by laws and owners agreement for the full term of this arrangement.
7. If the company is eventually able to negotiate a water transfer with The Department of Water Resources you will agree to make the trade outlined by Harold Jones and offered to you initially in February. To reiterate, that trade was to be ten acres of irrigation water plus 0.10 cfs for the ownership of this hook up.
